

Contents

Preface	page ix
Acknowledgments	xv
General Introduction: What Do Women Want?	i
PART I FAMILIARIZATION: ROMANCE WITH THE REPUBLIC, 1870S–1889	13
QUOTATIONS	13
1 Relaunching the Republican Campaign for Women’s Rights	15
2 Educators, Medical and Social Scientists, and Population Experts Debate the Woman Question, 1870–1889	53
3 The Politics of the Family, Women’s Work, and Public Morality, 1870–1890	94
4 The Revolutionary Centennial: Promoting Women and Women’s Rights at the 1889 International Exposition in Paris	133
PART II ENCOUNTER: THE THIRD REPUBLIC FACES FEMINIST CLAIMS, 1890–1900	153
QUOTATIONS AND INTRODUCTORY REMARKS	155
5 The Birth and “Take-Off” of Feminism in Republican France	157
6 Rights or Protection for Working Women?	204
7 Must Maternity Be Women’s Form of Patriotism?	249
8 The New Century Greet the Woman Question, 1900	268

PART III CLIMAX: MAINSTREAMING THE WOMAN QUESTION, 1901–1914	299
QUOTATIONS AND INTRODUCTORY REMARKS	302
9 Building a Force to Reckon with the Republic: The Conseil National des Femmes Françaises and Its Allies, 1900–1914	305
10 Defining, Historicizing, Contesting, and Defending Feminism: Early Twentieth-Century Developments	339
11 Refocusing the State: Depopulation, Maternity, and the Quest for a Woman-Friendly State	383
12 Emerging Labor Issues: Equal Pay for Equal Work, Travail à Domicile , and Women’s Right to Work	432
13 “The Alpha and Omega of Our Demands” – The Women’s Suffrage Campaigns Heat Up, 1906–1914	485
PART IV ANTI-CLIMAX: THE GREAT WAR AND ITS AFTERMATH	541
QUOTATIONS AND INTRODUCTORY REMARKS	544
14 The Great War and the Woman Question	547
15 “Half the Human Race”: Epilogue and Conclusion	613
Afterword	631
Appendix: Important Dates for the Woman Question Debates in France, 1870–1920 and Beyond	637
Index	662