

Contents

Preface IX

Acknowledgements XVIII

Introduction: A Complicated Affair 1

1 Reading the Past 1

2 Identity Politics 5

3 Clarifications 11

4 Essentialists 13

5 Constructivists 15

6 This Book 19

1 Gloria Patri: The Construction of the Modern Self 22

1.1 The Play: Euripides' Hippolytus 23

1.2 Two Modern Theatrical Productions 25

1.3 Scholarly Readings of Hippolytus 30

1.4 An Alternative Reading 45

1.5 Conclusion 49

2 Matters of Classification: The Case of "Mysteries" 54

2.1 Switching Between Codes 54

2.2 A Matter of Categories 60

2.3 The Case of the Eleusinian Mysteries 63

2.4 Mystery Cults and Religious Experience 67

2.5 Why Distinction and Classification Matters 75

2.6 Conclusion 81

3 Representations of the Ruined Past: Making Self and Other 85

3.1 Holey Frescoes 86

3.2 A Brief History of Words 88

3.3 Holes in the Narrative 100

3.3.1 Dating 101

3.3.2 The Hesychast Controversy and the Zealots' Uprising in Thessaloniki 102

3.3.3 Names and Rumors 104

3.3.4 Renovations 106

3.4 Riders of the Past 110

4	Traditioning Acts of Identification: The Case of Greek “Traditional” Villages	116
4.1	Coming Down the Mountain	121
4.2	Village Life in Filmography	121
4.3	Panteleimonas	123
4.4	Going up the Mountain	124
4.5	Conclusion	134
	Epilogue: The Ever-Present Past	141
	References	155
	Index	170