

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	1
Part I: Critical Survey of Disability Theatre Aesthetics, Politics, and Practices	13
1 What is Disability Theatre?	15
2 Critical Embodiment and Casting	37
3 Staging Inclusion	59
4 Inherited Plays and New Approaches	83
Part II: Critical Perspectives	107
5 “Every Man his Specialty”: Beckett, Disability, and Dependence Michael Davidson	109
6 Reclaiming the Ordinary Extraordinary Body: Or, The Importance of The Glass Menagerie for Literary Disability Studies Ann M. Fox	129
7 Access Aesthetics and Modern Drama: An Interview with Jenny Sealey on Graeae Theatre Company’s The Threepenny Opera and Blood Wedding Kirsty Johnston	153
8 Shattering the Glass Menagerie Terry Galloway, M. Shane Grant, Ben Gunter, and Carrie Sandahl	163

Notes	183
Bibliography	211
Notes on Contributors	225
Index	227