

Table of contents

Metaphors we live twice: A communicative approach beyond the conceptual view? Elisabetta Gola and Francesca Ervas	1
--	---

Part I. The cognitive and linguistic dimension of metaphor

Metaphor and simile: Categorizing and comparing categorization and comparison John Barnden	25
---	----

Taste synaesthesias: Linguistic features and neurophysiological bases Irene Ronga	47
---	----

Selling and buying, killing and wounding: (Un)conventional metaphors from two different semantic fields Sandra Handl	61
---	----

Time is money – everywhere? Analysing time metaphors across varieties of English Simone Mueller	79
--	----

Metaphors, bilingual mental lexicon and distributional models Marianna Bolognesi	105
--	-----

Towards a model of metaphorical understanding Bipin Indurkha	123
--	-----

On the role of perceptual features in metaphor comprehension Amitash Ojha and Bipin Indurkha	147
--	-----

Part II. The communicative dimension of metaphor

Adventures of a metaphor: Apian imagery in the history of political thought Giovanni Damele	173
--	-----

Moral disgust at its best: The important role of low-level mappings and structural parallelism in political disgust and disease metaphors Elisabeth Wehling	189
“The Ultimate Spinner”: Metaphors of evil in Hillary R. Clinton’s media coverage Michela Giordano	201
Blending metaphors and arguments in advertising Sabrina Mazzali-Lurati and Chiara Pollaroli	217
Metaphors and online learning M. Beatrice Ligorio, Marianna Iodice and Stefania Manca	235
Metaphor in sign language poetry Rachel Sutton-Spence	249
Metaphor and the concept of sound in contemporary music Ewa Schreiber	265
Index	285