

Contents

List of illustrations	xi
Preface	xxiii
PART ONE: THEATRE AND THE INDUSTRIAL REVOLUTION	1
Timeline	3
1    The rise of the 'minors'	6
2    Gothic	20
3    Imperial extravaganza	27
4    Penny showmen	33
5    Drama of the Industrial Revolution	40
6    Acting in melodrama	57
7    Joseph Grimaldi and Regency pantomime	69
8    The struggle for a free stage	78
9    Blood tubs, penny gaffs and the theatre of the streets	91
10   Factory acts	99
11   Northern strollers	106
12   Free and easy	120
Select bibliography	129
INTERLUDE: PUNCH AND JUDY	130
PART TWO: ROMANTIC THEATRE	135
Timeline	137
13   Romantic drama	141
14   Romantic performance	147
15   The theatre deregulated	160
16   Staging the new imperialism	170
17   In search of a national theatre	176
18   Towards an Aristophanic drama	195
19   Women and Victorian theatre	204
20   On the margins	211

21	Mid-nineteenth century Scottish theatre	220
22	Heyday of the halls	225
23	Realism and respectability	231
24	Theatre in the provinces	241
25	Off stage	249
26	Fun	258
27	The actor-managers	271
28	Respectable Romantic acting	282
29	The gay nineties	292
30	Fallen women and bad girls	304
	Select bibliography	311
INTERLUDE: TOY THEATRES		312
PART THREE: MODERNIST THEATRE		315
	Timeline	317
31	Shakespeare: A new start	321
32	Symbolist theatre	329
33	Ibsenism	337
34	Independent theatres	346
35	The new woman	351
36	Naturalism: The new drama	357
37	Naturalism on the stage	363
38	For the future	373
39	Theatre and women's suffrage	379
40	The repertory movement	388
41	A pioneer	398
42	Other theatres	406
43	Modern Shakespeare	417
44	English workers theatre	429
45	Welsh drama: A slow awakening	446
46	Scottish modernist theatre	450
47	Expressionism on the stage	459
48	Christian drama	469
49	Theatre workshop	475
	Select bibliography	483
INTERLUDE: THE ART OF EDWARD GORDON CRAIG'S THEATRE		484
PART FOUR: COMMERCIAL THEATRE		489
	Timeline	491
50	Staging the First World War	495
51	Musical comedy, revue and variety	504

52	The impresarios and their patrons	512
53	Well-made plays	517
54	The acting profession	525
55	Theatre and the Second World War	531
56	Post-war	537
57	Hard times	548
58	Revival?	555
	Select bibliography	560
INTERLUDE: SHAKESPEARE WALLAHS		561
PART FIVE: POPULAR THEATRES		565
	Timeline	567
59	Popular performance	571
60	Circus	575
61	Fit-ups	582
62	Lingering melodies	586
63	Beside the seaside	595
64	Twentieth century pantomime	601
65	Concert parties	608
66	Variety	612
67	The clubs	620
68	Stand-up	625
	Select bibliography	632
INTERLUDE: MUMMING PLAYS		633
PART SIX: SUBSIDISED THEATRE		639
	Timeline	641
69	CEMA into Arts Council	645
70	The English Stage Company at the Royal Court	649
71	Murmurs from abroad	656
72	Transformation	662
73	The regional reps	672
74	The rise of the director	678
75	Theatre and education	684
76	Alternative theatre	689
77	Theatre under Thatcher	697
78	Making the headlines	704
79	Scottish theatre before and after devolution	710
80	Towards the millennium	718
81	A new beginning?	727
	Select bibliography	737

INTERLUDE: PETER BROOK AND THE EMPTY SPACE	738
PART SEVEN: POSTDRAMATIC THEATRE	745
Timeline	747
82    Post-war: Post drama	750
83    Happenings and performance art	754
84    Visual and physical theatre	759
85    Site specific	764
86    Deconstruction	770
87    Multimedia	776
Select bibliography	781
Epilogue: Digital theatre	782
Glossary	787
Index	794