

CONTENTS

Part One — ZIONISM: BACKGROUND AND DESCRIPTION

1 THE SETTING OF MODERN JEWISH HISTORY 3

The modern "Jewish Problem," produced by Emancipation, source of nineteenth-century Jewish ideologies, 3. — The traditional values that united pre-Emancipation Jewry, 4. — Population growth and migrations diversify Jewish communities, Emancipation and Enlightenment divide, 6. — Differences in situation of Eastern European and Western Jews, 10. — Emergence of Jewish nationalism, 12. — Ideological rivals of Zionism: divisions within Eastern European Jewry, 16.

2 ZIONIST CONCEPTIONS OF SOVEREIGNTY 20

Distinctiveness of Zionism among nationalist movements, 20. — Practical vs. Political Zionism before Balfour Declaration: formula of the Basle program, 27. — Practical vs. Political Zionism after Balfour Declaration: Jabotinsky-Weizmann debate, 31. — Critical sharpening of Jewish problem and Palestine question in Hitler era, 37. — Nominal significance of Biltmore program, 39. — The binationalist alternative, 41. — The Revisionist alternative, 42. — Real significance of Biltmore program: eventual acceptance of Palestine partition, 43. — Interpretations of Israel's sovereignty since partition, 47.

Part Two — ZIONISM AND WORLD JEWRY

3 THE RISE AND RECEPTION OF ZIONISM IN THE NINETEENTH CENTURY 55

Different tasks and achievements of Zionist ideology among Eastern and Western Jewries, 55. — In West, Emancipation protagonists formulate implicitly anti-Zionist views, 58. — "Marginal" proto-Zionism in mid-nineteenth century, 60. — Rise of historic Zionism among Eastern Jews in 1880's, later consolidated by Western leadership, 61. — Zionist attitudes towards rival Eastern and Western ideologies, 65. — Zionist impact upon certain Western intellectuals, 76. — Emotional response and ideological opposition to Zionism in East, among traditionalists, 81. — Among socialists, 89.

4 ATTACHMENT TO ZION: TRADITIONAL BONDS AND INVOLVEMENT OF JEWISH ORGANIZATIONS 95

Traditional concepts of Zion and Exile, 95. — Enlightenment suppresses idea of Exile, nullifies idea of Zion, 97. — New awareness of Exile in Zionism leaves location of Zion arbitrary, 100. — The Jewish community in Palestine, 104. — Western impact on Ottoman Empire, 109. — Western Jewish organizations seek to aid Ottoman Jewries, 111. — Mixed reactions to Western-sponsored educational reforms in Palestine community, 114. — General cooperation in economic projects, 119. — Political protection of Palestine Jewry, 121. — Impact of Eastern European mass emigration on Western Jewries, 124. — Cooperation of Western and Eastern Jews in territorialist plans: Hovevei-Zion and the West, 126.

- 5 ANTI-ZIONISM AND NON-ZIONISM: EFFECTS UPON POLICY FROM FIRST ZIONIST CONGRESS TO BALFOUR DECLARATION 131
- Divisive and unifying influence of Zionism in Eastern and Western Jewries: Herzl's tactics and doctrine, 131. — Schapira's and Bodenheimer's views on Jewish unity and Zionist aims, 136. — Ethnic solidarity and "dual loyalties:" Bodenheimer's and Herzl's views, 139. — Ethnic effects of Jewish religious solidarity: the "Protest Rabbis," 144. — Implications of organizing mass emigration, 147. — Territorialism ideological compromise for Zionists and anti-Zionists alike: the Uganda issue, 152. — Nationalist and non-nationalist cooperation in the Jewish Territorial Organization (ITO), 154. — Pragmatic character of Jewish ideological positions before World War I, 157. — Wartime Jewish problem and Western allies, 158. — Concessions to Zionism advocated as method of gaining Jewish sympathy, 160. — Zionist and non-Zionist influences in formulation of Balfour Declaration, 165.*
- 6 THE JEWISH AGENCY AND THE JEWISH STATE 177
- Relations between Zionists, Western non-Zionists, and Eastern anti-Zionists after World War I, 177. — Reorganizing the Zionist movement: Brandeis-Weizmann debate, 183. — Evolution of extended Jewish Agency, 1921-1929, 188. — Agency creates broad communal support for Jewish National Home, 194. — Principles of non-Zionism: Louis Marshall's view, 198. — Redefinition by Cyrus Adler, 201. — British policy shift following 1936-1939 Arab revolt raises issue of sovereignty, 204. — Non-Zionist reactions to proposals of partition with statehood, 207.*
- 7 ISRAEL AND THE DIASPORA 211
- Following independence, scope and exercise of Israel's sovereignty remain issues of debate, 211. — Possible effects of Israel's existence on anti-Semitism, "dual loyalties," and Jewish self-image, 214. — Possible effects upon Diaspora Jewries of Israel's policies, 218. — New prominence of cultural and religious problems of Western Jewries, 222. — Redefining functions and status of Zionist Organization-Jewish Agency, 231. — Obligations to Diaspora as element in Israel's foreign policy, 241.*
- Part Three — ZIONISM AND THE INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY
- 8 ZIONISM AND WORLD POLITICS FROM NAPOLEON TO BALFOUR 251
- Early Christian Zionism and the Eastern Question, 251. — Impact of Jewish Problem, 257. — Zionist-Ottoman relations until World War I, 262. — Initiation of Practical Zionists in Allied diplomacy, 268. — Zionists initiate opposition to Sykes-Picot arrangements, 276. — Political interests and idealist mood unite Sykes-Picot opponents, 279. — Versailles Conference reveals weakness of Zionist diplomatic position, 282.*
- 9 THE MANDATE FOR PALESTINE: FORMULATION AND INTERPRETATION, 1918-1936 288
- Moral-political background of Mandate, 288. — The issue of a Jewish Army, 291. — British boundary demands for Palestine Mandate based on Zionist interest, 295. — Zionist suppression of ultimate political* demands a condition for British acceptance of Mandate, 297. — Aims of Zionist drafts of Mandate, 301. — British drafts before and after 1920 San Remo Conference, 304. — Palestine Mandate and Article 22 of League of Nations Covenant, 307. — The 1922 Churchill White Paper, 310. — "Self-governing institutions" as special obligation to Arabs, 313. — Arab "rights and positions" claimed as established status quo, 317. — History of British acceptance of this claim, 320. — Political sovereignty as issue between Jews and Arabs: regional approach in Zionist Arab policy, 329. — Cooperation in self-governing institutions, territorial and municipal, as road to Arab-Jewish understanding, 331. — Parity of national rights as a Zionist policy, 334. — Its political irrelevancy, 341.

10 TERMINATION OF THE MANDATE: EVOLUTION OF THE PLAN FOR PARTITION 344

Obscurity of legal conditions for terminating Palestine Mandate, 345. — Permanent Mandates Commission comments on British policy statements, 1929-1939, 347. — Jewish-British cooperation and conflict on immigration control, 351. — Exclusion of Jewish refugees produces Jewish resistance movements, 356. — Britain refers Palestine problem to the UN, 360. — Attitudes of the Powers, 362. — Extent to which Jewish problem considered relevant to a Palestine solution, 365. — Inherent difficulties of partitioning Palestine, 367. — Restrictions on sovereignty under partition plan accepted by Zionists, 370. — Israel established, 374.

11 ISRAEL AND THE UNITED NATIONS 376

Exercise of sovereignty, sole reliance of Israel at birth, 376. — Threats to Israel's existence and integrity under cease-fire and truce, 378. — Political history of Israel's two applications for UN membership, 381. — Political history of project to internationalize Jerusalem, 385. — Causes and political effects of Arab refugee problem, 390. — Legislative history and interpretation of General Assembly Resolution 194 (III), paragraph 11, 393. — Failure of Palestine Conciliation Committee, 398. — Israel-Arab armistice agreements: Egyptian assertion of belligerent rights, 409. — Sovereignty challenged in demilitarized zones, 414. — Collapse of military status quo, 418.

12 ISRAEL AND WORLD POLITICS 423

Weakness of Israel's international position, 423. — Growing diplomatic isolation of Israel, 425. — Impact of Egyptian-Soviet arms deal, 428. — Suez War and Sinai campaign, 429. — Precarious power balance, 1956-1967, 432. — Six Day War and its aftermath, 435. — Basic political mood of Israel, 439.

BIBLIOGRAPHY 445

NOTES 455

INDEX 485

MAPS

- I Sykes-Picot Treaty Boundaries, 1916; Official Zionist Frontier Claims, 1919. 278
- II Palestine and Transjordan Mandate, 1922. 279
- III Partition of Palestine Proposed by the UN General Assembly; Boundaries of Israel under Armistice Agreements, 1949. 372