

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
List of Figures and Tables	ix
List of Abbreviations	xvii
The Contributors	xxi

1. Romance sounds: New insights for old issues
Mark Gibson and Juana Gil 1

Part I. Acoustic Studies

2. Rhotic variation in Spanish codas: Acoustic analysis and effects of context in spontaneous speech
Beatriz Blecua and Jordi Cicres 21
3. The phonetics of Italian anaphoresis: Between production and perception
Silvia Calamai 48
4. A crosslinguistic study of voiceless fricative sibilants in Galician and European Portuguese
Xosé Luís Regueira Fernández and María José Ginzo 62
5. Acoustic realization of vowels as a function of syllabic position: A crosslinguistic study with data from French and Spanish
Cédric Gendrot, Martine Adda-Decker, and Fabián Santiago 77

Part II. Articulatory Studies

6. An articulatory account of rhotic variation in Tuscan Italian: Synchronized UTI and EPG data
Chiara Celata, Alessandro Vietti, and Lorenzo Spreafico 91
7. Vowels and diphthongs: The articulatory and acoustic structure of Romanian nuclei
Ioana Chitoran and Stefania Marin 118
8. Temporal organization of three-consonant onsets in Romanian
Stefania Marin 133
9. Articulatory setting, articulatory symmetry, and production mechanisms for Catalan consonant sequences
Daniel Recasens and Meritxell Mira 146

Part III. Studies in Perception

10. Perceptual cues for individual voice quality 161
Marianela Fernández Trinidad and José Manuel Rojo Abuin
11. Perception of lexical stress in Spanish L2 by French speakers 177
Joaquim Llisterri and Sandra Schwab
12. Brazilian Portuguese rhotics in poem reciting: Perceptual, acoustic, and meaning-related issues 191
Sandra Madureira
13. Perceived phrasing in French: A survey of some sentence structures 216
Caroline L. Smith

Part IV. Phonological Issues

14. Modeling assimilation: The case of sibilant voicing in Spanish 241
Rebeka Campos-Astorkiza
15. Adjusting to the syllable margins: Glides in Catalan and Spanish 276
Jesús Jiménez, Maria-Rosa Lloret, and Clàudia Pons-Moll
16. Galician mid-vowel reduction: A Stratal Optimality Theory account 299
Fernando Martínez-Gil

Part V. Studies in Acquisition

17. Language proximity and speech perception in young bilinguals: Revisiting the trajectory of infants from Spanish–Catalan contexts 353
Laura Bosch
18. Production and perception in the acquisition of Spanish and Portuguese 367
Jaydene Elvin, Polina Vasiliev, and Paola Escudero
19. Production of French close rounded vowels by Spanish learners: A corpus-based study 381
Isabelle Racine and Sylvain Detey
20. Phonetic behavior in proficient bilinguals: Insights from the Catalan–Spanish contact situation 395
Miquel Simonet

- References* 407
- Index* 465