

Contents

	page
Oedön von Horváth: A Chronology	11
Introduction
The Rediscovery of Horváth: A Playwright whose Time has Come	13
Aims, Scope, and Method	21
Chapter I: The "Horváth Sound"	23
Introduction	23
Analysis: The Particulars	30
Grammar and Syntax: The Framework	30
Vocabulary and Stylistic Levels: Essence of the "Sound"	35
Formulaic Expressions: Characteristic Postures	46
Chapter II: Four Early Plays	49
Introduction	49
Revolte auf Côte 3018 (1926)	51
The Text and its Sources: Dr. Fanck and the Zugspitze	51
The Action: "We have only enemies, powerful enemies."	52
Imagery and Motifs: God versus Kapital	56
Language and Dialogue: Dialect as a Social Indicator	62
Zur schönen Aussicht (1926)	67
The Text and its Sources: Not-so-Grand-Hotel	67
The Action: "Why do people always have to lie?"	67
Imagery and Motifs: Façade and Reality	71
Language and Dialogue: The Manipulators Manipulated	80
Sladek oder Die schwarze Armee (1927)	90
The Text and its Sources: Judicial Crisis in the Weimar Republic	90
The Action: "You just have to think for yourself."	90
Imagery and Motifs: Manifestations of a Society in Disarray	96
Language and Dialogue: Failure of Communication	104
Rund um den Kongress (1929)	109
The Text and its Sources: The "Conquest" of Prostitution	109
The Action: "Well, what was your sister?"-- "A whore."	110
Imagery and Motifs: Business or Morality?	116
Language and Dialogue: Verbal Arabesques	121

Chapter III: Two Volksstücke	129
Introduction	129
Italienische Nacht (1930)	131
The Text and its Sources: A Tavern Brawl	131
The Action: "The Republic can sleep soundly."	131
Imagery and Motifs: Fateful Fetishes	138
Language and Dialogue: Slogans Obstruct Understanding	143
Geschichten aus dem Wiener Wald (1931)	149
The Text and its Sources: The Vienna of Fame and Fable	149
The Action: "Nothing gives a sense of infinity like stupidity."	150
Imagery and Motifs: From Pig-Sticking to Fortune's Golden Ball	162
Language and Dialogue: Kitsch, Convention, and Cruelty	169
Conclusion	181
Footnotes	193
A Selected Bibliography	217