

Contents

Preface	xiii
Acknowledgments	xv
1. Introduction	I
The Comparative Study of Public Opinion. A New Style of Citizen Politics.
PART ONE. POLITICS AND THE PUBLIC
2. The Nature of Mass Beliefs	13
The Supercitizen. The Unsophisticated Citizen. Political Sophistication Reconsidered. Politics and the Public.
3. Conventional Citizen Action	35
The Modes of Participation. The Predictors of Participation. Changing Publics and Participation.
4. Protest Politics	59
Measuring Protest. Predictors of Protest. Participation and Contemporary Democracies.
PART TWO. POLITICAL ORIENTATIONS
5. Values in Change	77
The Nature of Value Change. The Distribution of Values. The Consequences of Value Change. Value Change and Value Stability.
6. Issues and Ideological Orientations	(97)
Domestic Policy Opinions. Foreign Policy Opinions. The Left/Right Orientations of Citizens. Public Opinion and Political Change.
PART THREE. THE ELECTORAL CONNECTION
7. Parties and Party Systems	127
The History of Party Systems. The Structure of Political Alignments. Contemporary Party Systems.

Reidinger

CITIZEN POLITICS IN WESTERN DEMOCRACIES

8. The Social Bases of Party Support	151
The Class Cleavage. The Religious Cleavage. The New Politics Cleavage. The Transformation of Social Cleavages.
9. Attitudes and the Vote	177
Partisan Attitudes. Partisan Dealignment. Issue Voting. Citizen Politics and Voting Behavior.
10. Political Representation	205
Collective Correspondence. Dyadic Correspondence. Patterns of Political Representaiton.
PART FOUR. THE FUTURE OF DEMOCRACY
11. Democracy in Crisis?	225
The Meanings of Political Support. Declining Confidence. System Support. The Future of Democratic Politics.
Appendix: Major Data Sources	245
Bibliography	249
Index	263