

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Introduction	1
Notes	7
1 Beyond Freud and Lacan	11
The Psychoanalytic Critique of Western Thought	13
Freud's Unconscious Phantasy	14
Lacan's Mirror Stage	16
A Culture of Narcissism	20
Melanie Klein and Projective Identification	21
Béla Grunberger and the Masculine Imaginary	23
Psychoanalysing the Psychoanalysts: Irigaray on Freud's 'Femininity'	27
The Culture of Narcissism as Social Critique	33
Notes	35
2 Feminine Imaginaries	44
Philosophical Myths: Refiguring Western Space-Time	48
Language and Subjectivity: Labial Logics and Placental Economies	57
Notes	66
3 Genealogies and Subjectivity	72
Cultural Myth: Mother-Daughter Relations and Woman-to-Woman Sociality	73
Religious Myth: A Feminine Divine	76
New Politics and Sexuate Rights	80
Notes	84
4 Irigaray's Dialectics	86
Tracing the Dialectic – Irigaray with Hegel	87
Diotima's Dialectic – Refiguring Love, within and Between Us	91
The Interval of Breath	94
I Love to You : The Failure of Hegel's Labour of Love	97
Listening and Wonder	102
Notes	105

5	Luce Irigaray with Gayatri Spivak	108
	'French Feminism in an International Frame'	111
	French Feminism Revisited	119
	Levinas and the Fecundity of the Caress	124
	The Impossible Intimacy of the Ethical	126
	Notes	129
6	A Politics of Proximity	134
	Marxist Feminist Critique of the Family	136
	Refounding the Family	141
	Intercultural Couples	144
	Politics of the Common	147
	Where to Now? International New Municipalism	151
	Barcelona en Comú and the Feminisation of Politics	154
	Notes	157
	Conclusion	159
	Note	160
	Afterword	161
	Notes	166
	Bibliography	167
	Index	183