

Contents

- 7      Preface. How small worlds can be big – local communities in prehistory in the work of Harry Fokkens
- 9      Social memories and site biographies: construction and perception in non-literate societies
Johannes Müller
- 19     The Dutch Abroad? Interpreting the distribution of the ‘beaker culture’
John C. Barrett
- 29     Early Bronze Age boat graves in the British Isles
Richard Bradley
- 35     The nature of a Bronze Age World
Anthony Harding
- 41     A triangular Middle Bronze Age trade system of amber, copper and tin 1500-1300 BC
Kristian Kristiansen and Johan Ling
- 45     Wetland Knowledges: Resource Specialisation (and Denial) in the East Anglia Fenlands
Christopher Evans
- 65     Maintaining fertility of Bronze Age arable land in the northwest Netherlands
Corrie Bakels
- 77     Bronze Age ancestral communities. New research of Middle Bronze Age burials in the barrow landscapes of Apeldoorn-Wieselseweg
David Fontijn, Arjan Louwen, Quentin Bourgeois, Liesbeth Smits and Cristian van der Linde
- 105    And the river meanders on... The intertwined occupation and vegetation history of the river area Maaskant and adjacent sand area of Oss (Netherlands) in Late Prehistory till Early Roman Period
Richard Jansen and Corrie Bakels
- 131    Metal surprises from an Iron Age cemetery in Nijmegen-Noord
Peter W. van den Broeke and Emile Eimermann