

CONTENTS

|   |      |
|---|------|
| PREFACE . . . . .   | vii  |
| CITATIONS. . . . .  | viii |
| INTRODUCTION . . . . .  | I    |
| I. MOTION I. . . . .  | 7    |
| (a) The problem of spiritual motion . . . . .                                 | 7    |
| (b) History of interpretation . . . . .                                       | II   |
| (c) The relation of mind and object in the philosophy ofProclus . . . . . | 16   |
| (d) Neoplatonic logic . . . . .   | 24   |
| II. POWER . . . . .   | 27   |
| (a) The concept of 'emanation' . . . . .                                      | 27   |
| (b) Three technical terms . . . . .   | 30   |
| (c) The ontological status of power . . . . .                                 | 38   |
| (d) The different varieties of power. . . . .                                 | 41   |
| (e) Incompleteness and non-being . . . . .                                    | 46   |
| III. CAUSATION . . . . .  | 49   |
| (a) The triad of remaining, procession, and reversion . . . . .               | 49   |
| (b) The circular motion of the effect . . . . .                               | 53   |
| (c) The circular motion of power . . . . .                                    | 60   |
| (d) Philosophical problems of the cycle. . . . .                              | 73   |
| (e) The hypostatization of the triad . . . . .                                | 78   |
| IV. ACTIVITY . . . . .  | 81   |
| (a) Circular activity . . . . .   | 81   |
| (b) The concept of ἀναλογία . . . . .                                  | 83   |
| (c) The simile of light . . . . .   | 90   |
| (d) Activity and the continuum of power . . . . .                             | 94   |
| (e) Ontological questions . . . . .   | 99   |
| V. MOTION II . . . . .  | 103  |
| (a) Motion and multiplicity . . . . .   | 103  |
| (b) The hierarchy of movers . . . . .   | 106  |
| (c) An objection considered . . . . .   | 111  |
| (d) Multiplicity and difference. . . . .                                      | 115  |

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| CONCLUSION . . . . .                   | 118 |
| APPENDICES                             |     |
| (I) ἔρως as a cosmic process . . . . . | 123 |
| (II) ἀθυρόστατος οὐσία . . . . .       | 128 |
| BIBLIOGRAPHY                           |     |
| (a) Texts . . . . .                    | 136 |
| (b) Modern works . . . . .             | 136 |