

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION	1
ROBERT ILSON

PART I. TYPES OF DICTIONARY

A Lexicographical Dilemma: monolingual dictionaries for the native speaker and for the learner	7
---	----------

BETTY KIRKPATRICK

Monolingual and Bilingual Learners' Dictionaries: a comparison	15
---	-----------

BERYL T. ATKINS

Innovative Practices in French Monolingual Learners' Dictionaries as Compared with their English Counterparts	25
--	-----------

MARIE-NOËLLE LAMY

PART II. PARTS OF DICTIONARIES

Word-formation in Modern English Dictionaries	35
--	-----------

GABRIELE STEIN

English Pronunciation and its Dictionary Representation	45
--	-----------

J. C. WELLS

Grammar in the Dictionary	53
----------------------------------	-----------

HOWARD JACKSON

Collocations and Idioms	61
--------------------------------	-----------

MORTON BENSON

Defining the Indefinable	69
---------------------------------	-----------

DWIGHT BOLINGER

Usage Notes in Dictionaries: the needs of the learner and the native speaker 75

JANET WHITCUT

Lexicographic Evidence 81

JOHN SINCLAIR

PART III. APPLICATIONS OF AND ALTERNATIVES TO DICTIONARIES

The Learner as Lexicographer: using dictionaries in second language learning 95

RICHARD ROSSNER

Working with the Monolingual Learners' Dictionary 103

ADRIAN UNDERHILL

Alternatives to Dictionaries 115

C. P. Hill

PART IV. FROM THEORY TO PRACTICE

From First Idea to Finished Artefact: the general editor as chief engineer 123

CHARLES MCGREGOR

Notes on Contributors 133