

Table of Contents

List of Figures.....	viii
List of Tables.....	x
1 Introduction.....	1
1.1 Objectives.....	1
1.2 Why settlements?	1
1.3 Chronology.....	1
1.4 Study area.....	3
1.5 Methods.....	4
1.6 Central Europe in the younger Pre-Roman Iron Age.....	4
1.6.1 The La Tène cultural zone.....	4
1.6.2 The Przeworsk culture.....	5
1.6.3 The Jastorf culture and the Großromstedt horizon.....	6
1.6.4 The Gubin group	7
1.6.5 Summary	7
2 What is La Tène? Views on the nature of the so-called La Tène culture and its local variations	9
2.1 The La Tène culture as an archaeological culture.....	9
2.2 Laténisation	10
2.3 The impact of the laténisation process on the northern central European Iron Age societies according to the present state of the art.....	11
3 Models of cultural change in northern central Europe.....	13
3.1 Objectives.....	13
3.2 Laténisation (cultural change) as consumption of goods and values.....	13
3.3 Laténisation (cultural change) as imitation.....	14
3.4 Laténisation (cultural change) as instruction/training.....	15
3.5 Laténisation (cultural change) as a result of migration.....	16
3.6 Laténisation (cultural change) as colonialism.....	19
3.7 Laténisation (cultural change) as hybridisation	21
3.8 Romanisation vs. laténisation – a peculiar match?	22
4 Archaeological sources.....	25
4.1 Research history – the Oder River basin and territories between its estuary and the Parsęta River.....	25
4.1.1 The upper and middle Oder with the Noteć area.....	25
4.1.2 The Lower Oder and the area between the Oder River estuary and the Parsęta River	26
4.2 Sites selected and selection criteria.....	26
4.3 Settlement features selected and selection criteria.....	26
4.4 Settlement finds selected and selection criteria.....	27
4.5 Preservation conditions and state of preservation of settlement finds and structures	27
5 Oder River basin settlements.....	29
5.1 Location and soil conditions	29
5.1.1 La Tène sites.....	29
5.1.2 Przeworsk sites	29
5.1.3 Jastorf sites	31
5.1.4 Farming tools.....	31
5.2 Spatial organisation and settlement patterns	31
5.2.1 The La Tène sites.....	31
5.2.2 Sites with Przeworsk- and Jastorf-type finds	32
5.2.3 Evidence from outside of the study area	42
5.2.3.1 Jutland and the Danish Isles	42
5.2.3.2 Northern Lowland	43

5.2.3.3 The La Tène zone	44
5.2.3.4 Areas east of the Oder River zone	47
5.3 Water supplies	48
5.4 Summary	49
6 Housing	51
6.1 Introduction	51
6.2 Pit houses	51
6.2.1 Size	51
6.2.2 Construction types	54
6.2.3 Function	56
6.3 Ground-level post buildings	60
6.3.1 Size and construction types	61
6.3.2 Function	63
6.4 Interpretation	63
7 Technology, specialised and non-household production	65
7.1 Introduction	65
7.2 Iron metallurgy	65
7.2.1 Iron smelting	66
7.2.2 Further stages of iron processing	71
7.3 Pottery kilns and pottery firing	71
7.3.1 Organisation of the pottery production	73
7.4 Lime kilns and lime firing	74
7.5 Other kilns and hearths	75
7.6 Rotation	77
7.6.1 Potter's wheel	77
7.6.2 Lathe – woodturning, bone- and antler-working, amber-working, metalworking	78
7.6.3 Rotary querns	80
8 The question of style	81
8.1 Introduction	81
8.2 Pottery	81
8.2.1 Forms	81
8.2.2 Decoration	83
8.2.3 Assessment	85
8.3 Fibulae	85
8.4 Militaria	86
8.4.1 Swords and scabbards	86
8.4.2 Shield bosses	88
8.4.3 Spearheads	89
8.4.4 Spurs	89
8.4.5 Other militaria	90
8.5 Tools	91
8.6 Other items	91
8.7 Imports, imitations and their utilisation: visual similarities and structural differences?	92
9 Is there any La Tène? The anatomy of the cultural change in the younger Pre-Roman Iron Age Oder River zone	95
9.1 Objectives	95
9.2 The 'consumption of goods and values' scenario	95
9.3 The 'imitation' scenario	95
9.4 The 'direct instruction/training' scenario	96
9.5 The 'migration' scenario	97
9.6 The 'colonialism' scenario	98
9.7 The 'hybridisation' scenario	99
9.8 Cultural change in non-elite contexts	100
9.9 Summary	101

Bibliography	103
Appendix 1 Catalogue of sites.....	126
Appendix 2 Catalogue of buildings	139
Appendix 3 Catalogue of hearths and production features	158