

Contents

	page
List of figures	viii
List of tables	ix
Preface	xiii
List of acronyms	xvi
Table of official exchange rate parities to US dollar	xxiii
Map: Central America	xxiv
1 A century of independence: foundations of export-led growth	1
Integration into the world economy	2
Pitfalls of export-led growth	10
The political context	16
The social structure	20
2 Central America in the 1920s: reform and consolidation	25
The 1920–1 depression and the export-led model	26
Monetary and financial reform	28
Consolidation of the export-led model	33
Economic development outside the export economy	38
Political repercussions	43
3 The 1929 depression	48
Onset of the depression	49
Impact of the depression outside the external sector	55
Social unrest	58
Political change – the rise of caudillismo	61
4 Economic recovery and political reaction in the 1930s	68
Policy responses in the 1930s	69
Export promotion and export diversification	74
Import substitution and economic recovery	79
Economic recovery and the new political model	82

5	Central America and the Second World War	87
	Hemispheric defence and US strategic interests	88
	Exports, imports and the balance of payments	91
	Money, finance and inflation	95
	The challenge to caudillismo	100
6	Post-war economic recovery	105
	The boom in traditional exports	107
	Agricultural diversification	110
	Private sector development outside agriculture	116
	Policy and performance in the public sector	121
	Capitalist modernisation	125
7	The struggle for democracy, the Cold War and the Labour movement in the first post-war decade	130
	The rebirth of the Labour movement	131
	The years of reaction, 1947–50	133
	The crisis of 1954	140
	External actors in the first post-war decade	144
	Conclusions	148
8	The foundations of modern export-led growth, 1954–60	150
	The crisis in traditional exports	151
	Export diversification and agro-industrial development	156
	Agriculture for internal consumption	160
	From foreign exchange abundance to balance of payments crisis	165
	The formation of the Central American Common Market	171
9	The illusion of a golden age, 1960–70	175
	The Central American Common Market (CACM) and the strategy of industrialisation	177
	The fiscal crisis	180
	The agricultural response to the CACM and the hybrid model	185
	Industrialisation and the CACM	190
	Crisis in the hybrid model	195
10	External shocks and the challenge to the social order, 1970–9	200
	Agriculture and the marginalisation of the peasantry	201
	The decline of the CACM and industrial strategy	207
	Inflation, debt and the public sector	212
	The state, the Labour movement and real wages	218
	The fall of Somoza and the challenge to US hegemony	225

11	The descent into regional crisis	230
	The challenge of Sandinismo	232
	The balance of payments crisis	237
	Stabilisation programmes and the burden of adjustment	244
	Growth and adjustment in Nicaragua	252
	National and international responses to the crisis	258
12	Conclusions	267
	Macroeconomic performance over the long-run	268
	The export-led model	275
	Reform and the labour movement	279
	External influence, economic policy and political change	284
	The 1979 crisis in historical perspective	291
	Methodological Appendix	295
	Statistical Appendix	307
	Notes	338
	Bibliography	387
	Index	403