Introduction . . . . . ix

PART ONE EVIDENCE IS THE FOUNDATION OF CERTITUDE

CHAPTER I - HISTORICAL SURVEY OF THE PROBLEM.	1
A. Plato's Solution of the Problem of True Knowledge.	1
B. True and Certain Knowledge according to St. Augustine	5
C. Truth and Illumination according to Henry of Ghent	11
CHAPTER II - ILLUMINATIONISM IS NOT THE BASIS OF      CERTITUDE	16
CHAPTER III - EVIDENCE AS THE BASIS OF CERTITUDE.	31
A. The Nature of Truth	31
B. Nature and Function of Evidence in General	38
1. Evidence, the Ultimate Criterion of Truth and Motive of Certitude	38
2. Objective Evidence, an Absolute Property of Things	39
3. Objective Evidence in Relation to the Human Intellect	41
4. Subjective Evidence or Evident Knowledge	42
C. Definition and Description of Evident Knowledge	42
1. Conditions for Evidence on the Part of the Object	43
The object must be present	43
The object must be present in itself	47
First corollary. Absence of evidence in past facts	48
Second corollary. Absence of evidence in belief	49
2. Conditions for Evident Knowledge on the Part of the Subject	51
Evident knowledge must be distinct	51
D. Evidence, the Source of Subjective Certitude	53
1. Necessary Apprehension	53
2. Necessary Assent	55
3. Infallible Certitude	56
4. Evidence is at the Basis of All Truth and Certitude	62

PART TWO EVIDENCE OF PRINCIPLES AND CONCLUSIONS

CHAPTER I - DEFINITION AND DESCRIPTION OF SELF-      EVIDENT PROPOSITIONS	64
A. Different Types of Principles.	66
B. Definition of a Self-Evident Proposition	67

2032

C. The Function of the Terms in Self-Evident Propositions.	70
1. Distinct and Confused Terms	70
2. Self-evidence in Propositions with Confused Terms	74
3. Self-Evident Propositions with Confused Terms as Principles of Particular Sciences	85
D. Inadequate Distinctions Rejected	88
E. Further Clarifications and Applications	91
1. No Proposition is Apprehended as Self-Evident unless its Terms are Apprehended in their Proper Meaning	91
2. Self-Evidence not in Proportion to Necessity of Terms	94
SUMMARY OF CONCLUSIONS.	96
CHAPTER II - EPISTEMOLOGICAL ASPECTS OF SELF- EVIDENT PROPOSITIONS.	98
A. Objective Evidence and Subjective Certitude         in First Principles	98
1. Basis of Certitude: Mutual Inclusion of the Extremes	99
2. Subjective Certitude of First Principles	100
B. The Function of the Senses in First Principles	103
1. First Principles are not Innate	103
2. Sense Perception, Occasional Cause of Evidence in First Principles	105
3. Experience Helpful in Acquisition of First Principles	107
CHAPTER III - EVIDENCE IN SYLLOGISTIC REASONING	111
A. The Nature of Syllogistic Reasoning	111
B. The Perfect Syllogism and its Evidence	113
1. Evident and True Conclusions from Evident and True Principles	113
2. Effects of Syllogistic Evidence: Necessary Assent and Absolute Certitude	114
PART THREE
FUNCTION OF EVIDENCE FOR OTHER KINDS OF KNOWLEDGE
PRELIMINARIES: SCOTUS EXTENDS THE CONCEPT OF SCIENTIFIC KNOWLEDGE	117
CHAPTER I - EVIDENCE OF INTERNAL ACTS AND STATES	121
A. Internal Experience, a Source of Certitude	121
B. Internal Acts and States are Self-Evident	125
C. Introspective Evidence is at the Basis of all Evidence	130
CHAPTER II - THE FUNCTION OF EVIDENCE IN INDUCTION	136
A. Nature of Inductive Reasoning	136
1. Aristotelian and Scotistic Induction	136
2. Exclusion of Chance Causality.	139

TABLE OF CONTENTS

3. Application of the Inductive Method . . . . . 140

B. Certitude of Induction, . . . . . 142

1. The Basis of Inductive Certitude . . . . . 142

2. Grades of Inductive Certitude . . . . . 146

3. A case of Demonstrative Certitude from Experience . . . . . 150

CHAPTER III - THE ROLE OF EVIDENCE FOR SENSE

KNOWLEDGE . . . . . 153

A. Limitations of Sense Knowledge . . . . . 153

1. Imperfection of Sense Knowledge . . . . . 153

2. Intellectual Knowledge Superior to Sense Knowledge. . . . . 155

B. Correction of Senses through Self-Evident Principles. . . . . 158

1. Evaluation of Convergent Sense Perceptions . . . . . 159

2. Correction of Divergent Sense Perceptions . . . . . 161
