

CONTENTS

Preface xv

SECTION 1

FUNDAMENTALS OF ORGANIZATIONAL BEHAVIOR

1	Working with People	2
	Understanding organizational behavior	3
	Historical development of organizational behavior	6
	Fundamental concepts	10
	Basic approaches of this book	15
	Summary	17
2	Social Systems	21
	Understanding a social system	22
	Culture	25
	Role	32
	Status	34
	Summary	38
3	Mainsprings of Motivation	42
	Human needs	42
	Maslow's hierarchy of needs	46
	Employee wants	52
	Herzberg's two-factor model	56
	Summary	60
4	Motivating Employees	64
	The expectancy model	65
	Behavior modification	69
	Interpreting motivational models	76
	Summary	78
5	Job Satisfaction	82
	The nature of job satisfaction	83

Job-satisfaction surveys	88
Using survey information	95
Summary	98
6 Climate and Models of Organizational Behavior	102
Organizational climate	104
An organizational behavior system	108
Models of organizational behavior	110
Summary	118

SECTION 2

LEADERSHIP AND ORGANIZATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

7 Leadership and Supervision	124
The nature of leadership	124
Leadership style	135
Summary	145
8 Employee Participation	151
The nature of employee participation	152
Programs for participation	162
Summary	169
9 Interpersonal and Group Dynamics	174
Transactional analysis	175
Assertiveness	180
Group dynamics	183
Meetings	184
Teamwork	190
Summary	194
10 Managing Change	198
Work change	198
Implementing change successfully	209
Summary	217
11 Organizational Development and Training	220
Understanding organizational development	221
Conventional training methods	235
Summary	237

SECTION 3

ORGANIZATIONAL ENVIRONMENT

12 Organizational Structure and Design	242
---	------------

Classical organization theory	242
Contingency organizational design	252
Summary	259

13	Technology and People	263
	Effects of technology	264
	Work systems and people	268
	Scientific and professional employees	275
	Summary	280

14	Quality of Work Life	285
	Understanding quality of work life	286
	Job enrichment	288
	Enriched sociotechnical work systems	299
	Summary	303

15	The Individual in the Organization	307
	Issues about conformity	308
	Rights of privacy	311
	Discipline	317
	The individual's responsibilities to the organization	321
	Summary	322

SECTION 4

SOCIAL ENVIRONMENT

16	Informal Organizations	328
	Nature of informal organization	329
	Informal communication	335
	Summary	346

17	Working with Unions	351
	The union's role in an organization	352
	Collective bargaining	354
	Grievance systems	361
	Union response to the postindustrial labor force	367
	Summary	369

18	Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO)	374
	Equal employment opportunity and the law	375
	EEO programs	382
	Older workers	388
	Summary	392

SECTION 5

COMMUNICATION AND REWARD SYSTEMS

19	Employee Communication	398
	Communication fundamentals	399
	Semantics	404
	Summary	414
20	Communication Relationships	418
	Communication within management	419
	Downward communication	422
	Upward communication	426
	Communication by specialists	431
	Communicating with employees' families	432
	The union role in communication	433
	Summary	434
21	Stress and Counseling	438
	Employee stress	438
	Employee counseling	447
	Types of counseling	453
	Summary	458
22	Appraising and Rewarding Performance	463
	Money as a means of rewarding employees	464
	People and job evaluation	469
	Organizational behavior and performance appraisal	474
	Seniority compared with performance for pay increases	479
	Summary	481
23	Economic Incentive Systems	486
	The role of incentive systems	487
	Use of profit and production sharing	490
	Use of wage incentives	493
	A complete pay program	501
	Summary	503

SECTION 6

CONCLUSION

24	Organizational Behavior in Perspective	508
	Models of organizational behavior	508
	Limitations of organizational behavior	517
	The promise of a better tomorrow	522

SECTION 7CASE PROBLEMS

1	Dudley Lodge	529
2	The Video Electronics Company	536
3	Albatros Electrical Company	540
4	Middle National Bank	544
5	Spacetrronics	546
6	United Mutual Insurance Company	550
7	The Performance Rating	558
8	The Palmer Export Site	560

Indexes	565
Name Index
Subject Index	