

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION

xix

TREATISE I: OATHS

3

Chapter 1. The four classes of oaths. Definition of rashly uttered oath (Sec. 1). Its four sub-classes (Sec. 2). Penalty for its breach (Sec. 3). The four types of vain oath (Secs. 4-7). Oath arising from bailment (Sec. 8). Penalty for swearing falsely (Sec. 9). Denial must be deliberate (Sec. 10). When considered inadvertent (Sec. 11). Oath arising from testimony (Secs. 12-13). 5

Chapter 2. Liability for oath (Sec. 1). Oath imposed by others. Equivalentents of oath. Substitutes for Divine Name (Secs. 2-3). No penalty for oath not containing Divine Name (Sec. 4). Substitutes for the word "oath" (Secs. 5-7). No penalty for oath taken by "linking up" (Secs. 8-9). Oath must be expressed verbally (Sec. 10). Must be expressed as intended (Sec. 11). Meaning of oath, once determined, cannot be varied (Sec. 12-13). When intention is subsumed under utterance, oath is binding (Sec. 14). Understanding of others can determine contents of oath (Secs. 15-16). Retraction of oath (Secs. 17-19). 8

Chapter 3. Oath uttered accidentally or under duress not binding (Secs. 1-2). Oath uttered under duress should be accompanied by mental reservation (Secs. 3-4). Rhetorical and inadvertent oaths not binding (Sec. 5). Examples of oaths falsely taken through inadvertence (Sec. 6). Liability for inadvertent rashly uttered oath referring to past or future event (Secs. 7-8). Accidental breach of oath (Secs. 9-11). 12

Chapter 4. Rashly uttered oaths: Minimum forbidden quantities (Secs. 1-2). Eating includes drinking, but not the reverse (Secs. 3-5). "Not to eat and not to drink" counts as two oaths (Sec. 6). Examples of oaths referring to many things which entail as many penalties (Secs. 7-8). Oath cannot take effect over another oath (Sec. 9). Where liability for second oath occurs sooner, it takes effect (Sec. 10). Where second oath is more comprehensive, it takes effect (Sec. 11). Examples of liability on one and on many counts (Secs. 12-15). Liability for oath depending upon fulfillment of a condition (Sec. 16). Differences when condition is deliberately or inadvertently fulfilled (Secs. 17-19). Inadvertent failure to fulfill an oath to do something entails sacrifice, but deliberate failure does not entail flogging (Secs. 20-21). Oath not to eat with one another (Sec. 22). 15

Chapter 5. Rashly uttered oaths (continued): Oaths referring to past acts of others entail liability; those referring to their future acts entail no liability, but are punishable (Sec. 1). Why there is no flogging for false oath (Secs. 2-3). Oath concerning a thing over which the swearer has authority (Sec. 4). Things unfit to be eaten not entailed by oath not to eat, but entailed by oath to eat (Secs. 5-6). Oath to eat less than minimum forbidden quantity binding (Sec. 7). Oath not to eat dirt (Sec. 8). Oath not to eat grape seeds (Sec. 9). Oath referring to both permitted and forbidden food binding (Sec. 10). No liability for oath not to eat forbidden food (Sec. 11). Oath to eat forbidden food entails flogging for false oath (Sec. 12). Two contradictory oaths (Secs. 13-14). Oath to violate a commandment (Secs. 14-15). Unfulfilled oath to fulfill a commandment (Sec. 16). Oath to do evil unto others (Sec. 16). Oath to injure one's own self (Sec. 17). Oath to confer benefit upon others (Sec. 17). Oath not to eat unleavened bread for two years takes effect (Sec. 18). One who swears that he has or has not performed a commandment (Sec. 19). Oath not to sleep for three days, etc. (Sec. 20). Oath of fancy (Sec. 21). Oaths concerning scientific beliefs (Sec. 22). 19

Chapter 6. Absolution from rashly uttered oaths (Sec. 1). Its source in the Law (Sec. 2). Who may absolve (Sec. 3). Agency (Sec. 4). Procedure (Sec. 5). Is not judgment, and may be effected by relatives and on the Sabbath (Sec. 6). Oath or vow implicating others (Sec. 7). Oath sworn for the public good (Sec. 8-9). When and how to be encouraged (Sec. 10). Grounds to be suggested for absolution (Secs. 11-12). Oath not to seek absolution (Sec. 13). Multiple oaths (Secs. 14-17). Absolution after breach of oath (Sec. 18). 24

Chapter 7. Oath arising from bailment: Who is liable (Sec. 1). In claims involving fines (Sec. 2). In claims involving land, slaves, or bonds (Secs. 3-4). Effective when made prior to claim, or when made to agent (Secs. 5-6). Must be understood by swearer (Sec. 7). Penalty if oath is false (Sec. 8). Repeated denial of same claim (Sec. 9). Denial of many claims (Secs. 10-13). Multiple liability for oath (Sec. 14). Payment of several fifths in penalties (Sec. 15). Minimum claim (Sec. 16). 30

Chapter 8. Oath arising from bailment (continued): Further claims involving fines (Secs. 1-4). False oath involving no financial benefit (Secs. 5-6). Rule when liability lies (Sec. 7). Cases of potential financial benefit (Secs. 8-9). Cases where restitution is immediate (Secs. 10-11). Claims by partners (Sec. 12). Money due under bond (Sec. 13). Claims attested by witnesses only (Sec. 14). 33

Chapter 9. Oath arising from testimony: Liability for (Secs. 1-2). Does not lie for land, slaves, or bonds (Sec. 3). Cases involving fines (Secs. 4-5). Liability lies only upon claim by claimant himself or his representative (Sec. 6). Non-liability for oaths made prior to claim, or prior to evidence being known (Secs. 6-8). Witnesses must be singled out (Secs. 9-10). Oath must contain Divine Name or its substitutes (Sec. 11). Must be understood (Sec. 12). Recapitulation of ten conditions necessary for liability (Sec. 13). When giving rise to rashly uttered oath (Sec. 14). Cases of multiple liability (Secs. 15-17). Oath taken in error (Sec. 18). Oath concerning mere fact of testimony (Sec. 19).	36
Chapter 10. Oath arising from testimony (continued): Administered to ineligible witnesses (Sec. 1). In cases where no monetary liability would lie (Secs. 2-4). Where there is only one witness (Sec. 5). Case of unfaithful wife (Sec. 6). Case of suspected wife (Sec. 7). Where one witness alone can cause payment (Secs. 8-12). Interval between denials of two witnesses (Sec. 13). Where one witness admits and one denies knowledge of evidence (Sec. 14). Case of two pairs of witnesses denying in succession (Sec. 15). Cases of multiple liability (Secs. 16-18). No liability lies for oath administered after refusal in court to give evidence (Sec. 19).	41
Chapter 11. Duty to swear by Divine Name (Sec. 1), and not to join aught to the Name (Sec. 2). Swearing to perform a commandment (Sec. 3). Judicial oath (Sec. 4). Imposed on the authority of Scripture (Sec. 5). Imposed by the Rabbis (Secs. 6-7). Procedure for administering judicial oath (Sec. 8). Form of oath (Secs. 9-10). Holding of sacred object (Sec. 11). How administered to scholar (Sec. 12). Difference between judicial and informal oath (Sec. 13). Language of oath (Sec. 14). Overawing the swearer before administering oath (Secs. 15-19). Penalty for swearing falsely (Sec. 20).	46
Chapter 12. False swearing not expiated by penalty (Sec. 1). Its gravity (Sec. 2). Oaths in the name of heavenly bodies, Prophets, or Sacred Writings (Sec. 3). Oaths by the Torah (Secs. 4-5). Oaths of slaves (Sec. 6), and of minors (Sec. 7). Duty to teach children to speak the truth without use of oaths (Sec. 8). Procedure on hearing the Divine Name taken in vain deliberately or inadvertently (Secs. 9-10). Mere mention of the Divine Name (Sec. 11). Duty to fulfill oaths (Sec. 12).	50
TREATISE II: VOWS.	55
Chapter 1. Vows of prohibition (Sec. 1). Vows of consecration (Secs. 2-3). Duty to fulfill vows (Sec. 4). Minimum quantity for penalty (Sec. 5). Things forbidden separately combine for

- penalty (Sec. 6). Vows made by reference to things forbidden by human action and to those divinely prohibited (Secs. 7-9). Vows made by reference to things which cannot be originated by vow (Secs. 10-12). Vows made by reference to firstlings, things devoted to heaven, or Temple utensils (Secs. 13-15). Substitutes for prohibiting word (Secs. 16-17). Examples of formulae which do or do not give rise to vows (Secs. 18-26). Vows by reference to Scripture (Secs. 27-28). Vow to study Mishnah (Sec. 29). Vows affecting one's wife (Sec. 30). 57
- Chapter 2. Vows binding upon another person (Sec. 1). Utterance and intention must correspond (Sec. 2). Vows subject to another person's intention (Sec. 3). Stipulation that future vows are not to be binding (Secs. 4-6). Interpretation of vows (Secs. 7-10). Meaning determined by local usage (Sec. 11). Vows made frivolously or in jest (Secs. 12-13). Renunciation of ownership (Sec. 14). Partial renunciation (Sec. 15). Slaves and land (Secs. 15-16). Number of witnesses necessary for valid renunciation (Sec. 16). Retraction of renunciation (Secs. 17-18). Procedure of taking title to ownerless property (Sec. 19). 64
- Chapter 3. Difference between vows and oaths (Sec. 1). Vows taking effect upon other vows (Sec. 2). Linking up with vow (Secs. 3-5). Vows clashing with religious duties (Secs. 6-9). Vows involving things without substance (Secs. 10-12). 69
- Chapter 4. Vows which are not binding (Sec. 1). Vows made under constraint (Sec. 2). Vows of incitement (Secs. 3-4). Remission of vows (Secs. 5-6). Applies also to vows of consecration, but not to changeling (Sec. 7). Vows may be revoked by father or husband (Sec. 8). Absolution from vow affects vows linked up to it (Secs. 9-10). Absolution from part of vow affects the whole (Secs. 11-12). May be granted by sage affected by vow (Sec. 13). Vows conditionally binding (Secs. 14-15). Vows to fast (Sec. 16). 72
- Chapter 5. Vows forbidding benefit (Secs. 1-2). One cannot forbid what is not his (Sec. 3). Vows forbidding "my property" (Sec. 4). Vows forbidding "this property" (Sec. 5). Vows affecting a son (Sec. 6). Vows binding a son, but not a grandson (Sec. 7). Cases where forbidden inheritance may be benefited by (Sec. 8). Mixtures which contain food forbidden by vow (Sec. 9-12). Things exchanged for, or growing out of, the forbidden thing (Secs. 13-16). 76
- Chapter 6. Vow not to enjoy any benefit of food (Secs. 1-2). Difference between such a vow and one to derive no benefit at all (Sec. 3). Services which A, bound not to confer any benefit

- upon B, may nevertheless render to him (Secs. 4-11). Effect of such a vow upon property leased to others, or during Sabbatical year (Secs. 12-15). Lending to, borrowing from, and working near, one another forbidden (Sec. 16). Benefits which a father bound by such a vow may confer upon his son (Sec. 17). Mode of communication between parties bound by vow of silence (Sec. 18). 79
- Chapter 7. Persons mutually forbidden by vow to confer or derive benefit may return lost property to each other (Sec. 1), and may use public property, but not town property (Sec. 2). How town property may be made permitted (Sec. 3). Property held in partnership (Secs. 4-6). Vow not to derive or confer benefit upon a whole nation, a certain city, mankind, priests, or Levites (Secs. 7-11). How one forbidden to confer benefit upon another may cause him to be fed or helped (Secs. 12-16). How father may benefit daughter without benefiting son-in-law (Sec. 17). 83
- Chapter 8. Vow ceases to be binding when underlying cause disappears (Secs. 1-2). Vow made under misapprehension not binding (Secs. 3-4). Vow remains binding even if changes occur in its object (Sec. 5). Vow remitted in part is remitted in whole (Secs. 6-7). Scope of vow governed by circumstances at the time when it was made (Secs. 8-12). Vow to undertake something becomes operative only when suitable circumstances have arisen (Sec. 13). Vows which may be remitted without absolution (Sec. 14). 87
- Chapter 9. Meaning of terms of vow depends upon common usage (Secs. 1-3). In case of doubt, majority usage does not determine meaning (Secs. 4-5). Substances usually queried by hired messenger included in the species (Sec. 6). Vows about meat, cooked food, fish, milk, or cheese (Secs. 7-8). Difference between "wheat" and "wheat ears" (Sec. 9). Examples of what is not included in certain species (Secs. 10-14). Vows not to benefit from houses, cities, rivers, or certain groups of people (Secs. 15-23). 91
- Chapter 10. Meaning of temporal expressions: today, one day, day, week, month, year, septennate, Jubilee (Secs. 1-6). Vows "until Passover," "until the harvest," "until the rains" (Secs. 7-11). Cases where binding force of vow depends upon fulfillment of a condition (Secs. 12-13). 97
- Chapter 11. Vows of girl in her twelfth year or of boy in his thirteenth year (Secs. 1-2). Vows of those younger or older (Secs. 3-5). Father's right to revoke a maiden's vows (Secs. 6-7). Husband's right to revoke his wife's vows (Sec. 8). Revocation of a betrothed maiden's vows (Secs. 9-22). Vows of woman awaiting levirate marriage (Secs. 23-24). Vows of widow or divorcée (Sec. 25). A maiden's vows unknown until after she becomes independent are binding (Sec. 26).

101

Chapter 12. Father may revoke any vow, husband only certain vows (Sec. 1). Vows of mortification and vows relating to husband's and wife's mutual relationship (Secs. 2-8). Vows affecting marital intimacy, wife's handiwork, and husband's relatives (Secs. 9-11). Husband or father may revoke vows not yet binding (Sec. 12). No revocation permissible by a person who is deaf, an imbecile, or a minor (Secs. 13-14). Simultaneous revocation (Sec. 14). Duration of right to revoke (Secs. 15-17). Silence equivalent to confirmation (Sec. 18). Woman who breaks vow not knowing that it has been revoked, or before its revocation (Secs. 18-19). Ignorance of right of revocation (Sec. 20). Revocation in error (Sec. 21).

106

Chapter 13. Revocation permissible in any language (Sec. 1). Formulae of revocation (Sec. 2). Formulae of confirmation (Sec. 3). Annulment (Secs. 4-6). Revocation must be verbal, whereas annulment need not be so (Sec. 7). Revocation may take place on Sabbath (Sec. 8). Ineffective in advance of vow or through agent (Sec. 9). Partial revocation effective (Sec. 10). Revocation when husband's and wife's vows are linked, or when another person's vow is linked to the wife's (Secs. 11-15). Revocation of vows which become operative after marriage or after divorce (Secs. 16-18). Confirmation need not be verbal (Sec. 19). Absolution possible from confirmation, but not from revocation (Sec. 20). Cases of confirmation and revocation (Secs. 21-22). Praiseworthy vows (Sec. 23). Excessive indulgence in vows inadvisable (Secs. 24-25).

111

TREATISE III: NAZIRITESHIP

117

Chapter 1. Duties of Nazirite (Sec. 1). Penalty for breach of vow (Sec. 2). Commandments performed by its fulfillment (Sec. 3). Allusions which give rise to Nazirite vows (Secs. 4-7). Substitutes for the term "Nazirite" (Sec. 8). Vow to become a Nazirite from only one of the things forbidden to Nazirites, or from only one cup of wine (Secs. 9-11). Vow of drunkard (Sec. 12). Vow to become a Nazirite on condition that one need not fulfill one of its obligations (Sec. 13). Cases of Naziriteship in error (Secs. 14-15). One who declares his limb a Nazirite (Sec. 16). Nazirite vow dependent upon birth of a child (Sec. 17).

120

Chapter 2. Nazirite vows made under constraint, in error, or in order to incite someone else (Secs. 1-2). Linking up effective (Secs.

- 3-6). When there is doubt if a Naziriteship has arisen, there is no vow (Secs. 7-9). Nazirite vow dependent upon the status of the koḡ, of the hermaphrodite, or of a group of people (Secs. 10-12). Nazirite vow of a minor (Secs. 13-15). Gentiles not subject to Naziriteship (Sec. 16). Nazirite vows of women and slaves (Secs. 17-19). Naziriteship valid at all times, but may be practiced only in the Land of Israel (Secs. 20-21). 123
- Chapter 3. Duration of Naziriteship (Secs. 1-4). Naziriteship undertaken "to a certain place" (Sec. 5). Multiple Naziriteship (Secs. 6-9). One who vows two Naziriteships and is absolved from one (Sec. 10). Perpetual Nazirite (Secs. 11-12). Samson-like Nazirite (Secs. 13-15). Samuel was perpetual Nazirite (Sec. 16). Nazirite "as the sand of the sea," "as the hairs on my head," etc. (Secs. 17-18). Compound Naziriteship (Sec. 19). 129
- Chapter 4. The day of polling on terminating one Naziriteship, or two successive Naziriteships (Secs. 1-2). One Naziriteship interrupting another, or interrupting a perpetual Naziriteship, or a Samson-like Naziriteship (Secs. 3-9). One who undertakes to become a Nazirite one day before his death, or on the day the Messiah shall come (Secs. 10-11). Nazirite who fails to poll (Sec. 12). Nazirite who seeks absolution after breaking his vow (Secs. 13-16). A woman's Naziriteship may not be revoked after the blood of her sacrifice has been sprinkled (Sec. 17). 133
- Chapter 5. Things forbidden to the Nazirite (Sec. 1). Penalty for eating an olive's bulk of grapevine products (Sec. 2). Only the products of the vine combine for penalty (Secs. 3-7). Manifold flogging due for several forbidden products (Secs. 8-9). Nazirite who compounds offenses or consorts with wine drinkers (Sec. 10). One who cuts off or pulls out a single hair of a Nazirite is liable to a flogging (Sec. 11). If a depilatory is used, there is no penalty (Sec. 12). Penalty for cutting off more than one hair (Sec. 13). Nazirite may scrub or scrape his hair with his hand, but may not use cleansing earth or comb (Sec. 14). Nazirite who contracts uncleanness for the dead lasting seven days (Sec. 15). One who contracts uncleanness many times (Secs. 16-17). One who remains in a house until someone dies, or enters it inside a chest (Sec. 18). One who, having entered by error, does not leave immediately upon being warned (Sec. 19). There is no penalty if another person defiles a Nazirite (Sec. 20). Nazirite who defiles himself incurs a fourfold flogging (Sec. 21). 137
- Chapter 6. Wine drinking or polling less than half of the head does not cancel the Naziriteship, while polling more than this cancels it for thirty days (Secs. 1-2). Uncleanness cancels the whole period of it (Sec. 3). Uncleanness after completion cancels it for thirty days (Secs. 4-5). Uncleanness during first two days does not cancel it (Sec. 6). One who vows a Naziriteship when unclean, or when in a graveyard (Secs. 7-10). Procedure for polling after uncleanness, purification, sacrifices, and recommencement of Naziriteship (Secs. 11-13). Polling and burning of hair (Sec. 14). When multiple uncleanness requires one sacrifice, and when two (Sec. 15). One who learns after completing the Naziriteship that he had become unclean (Secs. 16-17). Definition and examples of abysmal defilement (Secs. 18-19). When it is uncertain whether a clean Nazirite has become unclean, or vice versa (Sec. 20).

142

Chapter 7. Sources of uncleanness for which a Nazirite must, or need not, poll (Secs. 1-8). Nazirite who becomes a leper, or has a flux, or contracts uncleanness from other sources (Secs. 9-10). Nazirite may touch a corpse whose burial is mandatory, or poll when this is mandatory, but may never drink wine (Secs. 11-12). When a Nazirite and a priest come upon a corpse whose burial is mandatory (Sec. 13). When two Nazirites come upon it (Sec. 14). Why Nazirite must poll for leprosy (Sec. 15).

147

Chapter 8. Polling on completing Naziriteship in cleanness (Sec. 1). The three sacrifices, and the casting of the hair under the cauldron (Secs. 2-4). Polling not indispensable (Sec. 5). Invalid polling (Secs. 6-7). Effect on polling of sacrifices offered in improper manner (Secs. 8-12). Sacrifices may not be purchased with hallowed money or second tithe (Secs. 13-14). When son may purchase offerings with his father's Nazirite money (Secs. 15-17). One who undertakes to bring the offerings for a Nazirite or half a Nazirite (Secs. 18-20).

152

Chapter 9. Disposal of surplus of money set aside for Nazirite offerings when earmarked and when not earmarked (Secs. 1-2). Money set aside for sacrifice by deceased Nazirite (Sec. 3). Things regarded as earmarked or not earmarked (Secs. 4-8). Sacrifices of woman whose husband has revoked her Nazirite vow (Secs. 9-10). Woman Nazirite whose husband revokes her vow after she has become unclean (Sec. 11). Sacrifices of son who refuses to observe Nazirite vow imposed by his father (Sec. 12). One who vows to become a Nazirite if he has a son, but whose wife miscarries (Sec. 13). Sacrifices in case of uncertainty as to which of two Nazirites has become unclean (Sec. 14). Procedure if one of them then dies (Sec. 15). Doubtful uncleanness of Nazirite (Secs. 16-17). Nazirite passing a corpse lying across the road (Secs. 18-19).

157

- Chapter 10. Polling of Nazirite who is uncertain as to whether he is a leper, or unclean for the dead, or both (Secs. 1-3). Procedure for bringing his offerings (Secs. 4-8). Only woman or minor may poll in such cases (Sec. 9). Nazirite who is definitely a leper but doubtfully unclean for the dead (Sec. 10). Nazirite who is certainly unclean but doubtfully a leper (Sec. 11). Nazirite who is certainly both a leper and unclean (Secs. 12-13). Worthy and unworthy kinds of Nazirite vows (Sec. 14). 162
- TREATISE IV: VALUATIONS AND THINGS VOTIVE 169
- Chapter 1. Valuations are a sub-species of vows (Sec. 1). Amount to be paid is prescribed by Scripture, and varies with age and sex of person pledged (Secs. 2-4). Person of doubtful sex or hermaphrodite has no valuation (Sec. 5). Valuation of Gentile, deaf-mute, and imbecile (Sec. 6). Slave may pledge and be pledged (Sec. 7). Physical condition immaterial to valuation (Sec. 8). Difference between vows of worth and vows of valuation (Sec. 9). Monies due from both types of vow used for repair of Temple (Sec. 10). Gentiles may pledge vows of worth, but money therefrom was not paid into Temple (Secs. 11-12). Moribund person, or one condemned to death, has neither valuation nor worth, but may pledge valuation or worth of others (Secs. 13-14). Priests, Levites, and minors who have reached the age of vowing, may pledge or be pledged (Sec. 15). Amount of fixed valuation determined by subject's age, and not by age of him who makes the pledge (Sec. 16). Utterance of vow must agree with intention, and vow is subject to absolution (Sec. 17). One who pledges the valuation of several people or his own valuation several times (Secs. 18-19). Valuation of unspecified person (Sec. 20). One who makes a vow of valuation or worth, and dies before or after assessment by the court (Secs. 21-23). 171
- Chapter 2. Valuation of single limbs and vital organs (Sec. 1). Partial valuation (Sec. 2). Vows of worth of single limbs (Secs. 3-4). Vows of partial worth (Sec. 4). One who pledges his weight or height (Secs. 5-6). One who pledges his weight without specifying the substance payable (Sec. 7). Pledges of doubtful meaning (Sec. 8). Pledges not exactly specified (Secs. 9-10). Use made of monies of valuation and of worth (Sec. 11). Chamber of Secrets and Chamber of Utensils (Secs. 12-13). 175
- Chapter 3. Amount of valuation determined by date of vow and not by date of assessment (Sec. 1). Poor man who cannot afford the specified valuation may pay as little as one sela' (Secs. 2-3). One who cannot afford even one sela' remains liable for the specified sum (Sec. 4). Liability of person whose circumstances change (Sec. 5). Poor man who links up his valuation with valuation of rich man (Sec. 6). Difference between one liable for poor man's valuation and one liable for rich man's (Sec. 7). One who specifies the valuation exactly may not be assessed according to his means (Sec. 8). Vows of worth are likewise not assessable according to means (Sec. 9). Wholly unspecified valuation assessable according to means (Sec. 10). One assessable according to means who makes two vows of valuation and is assessed for the second one first, or vows two valuations simultaneously (Secs. 11-12). Liability for money of valuation or worth remains upon payer until handed over to Temple treasurer (Sec. 13). A person's possessions may be seized for payment, but not his wife's and children's (Sec. 14). Possessions which must be left to him (Secs. 15-16). Tools of trade which must be left and those which may be seized (Secs. 17-18). All chattels and slaves must be sold as they are at that time and in that place (Sec. 19). Land must be advertised for sixty days before sale (Sec. 20).

178

Chapter 4. Definition of field of possession and field of purchase (Sec. 1). Value of field of possession (Sec. 2). Table of coins and measures (Secs. 3-4). How this value is calculated (Secs. 5-9). Consecration of Israelite property during Jubilee year ineffective, consecration of priestly and Levitic property effective (Secs. 10-11). No abatement within first year after Jubilee (Sec. 12). Parts of field which are to be or not to be measured in determining size (Secs. 13-14). Trees assumed to be included in consecration (Sec. 15). Ground unfit for sowing and trees may be redeemed at their own value (Sec. 16). When consecration of trees is or is not assumed to include land (Secs. 17-18). Unredeemed field must have its value paid by the priests at Jubilee (Sec. 19). Disposition of redeemed field (Secs. 19-20). Priests and Levites may redeem their fields at any time (Sec. 21). Field consecrated by wife and redeemed by her husband (Sec. 22). Priest who has redeemed a field from the sanctuary must surrender it at Jubilee (Sec. 23). Field goes to priestly division on duty at Jubilee (Sec. 24). Trees do not go to priests at Jubilee, but stony land does (Sec. 25). Field of purchase (Sec. 26). Method of its sale (Sec. 27). Heir who buys the field of his heritage and consecrates it (Sec. 28).

183

Chapter 5. Initial duty to redeem consecrated field devolves upon owner (Sec. 1). Owner may sell other property or borrow in order to redeem it wholly or partly (Sec. 2). Houses and chattels valued at their fair price (Sec. 3). House redeemed by another person (Sec. 4). Consecration of animals fit or unfit for altar (Secs. 5-7).

Consecrated property consisting of birds, oil, wine, flour, or incense (Secs. 8-10). Unblemished animal consecrated for altar which becomes blemished (Sec. 11). Consecrated live animal must be set before the court, but not one dead (Secs. 12-13). Consecration of value of an animal or of one of its limbs (Secs. 14-17). Consecration for Temple (Sec. 18). Procedure when pledged valuation, or consecrated field of possession, is specified for altar (Sec. 19).

188

Chapter 6. Things devoted unconditionally go to the priests (Sec. 1). One should devote only part of his property (Sec. 2). Person who devotes all of his property must surrender everything he owns (Sec. 3). Things devoted to the priests may never be redeemed, but must be given to the priests (Sec. 4). They lose their sanctity once the priests receive them (Sec. 5). Devoted field acquired by priest counts as his field of possession (Sec. 6). Land and chattels originally belonging to priests or Levites may not be devoted (Sec. 7). Consecration for Temple takes effect upon things consecrated to altar, but not the reverse (Sec. 8). Things consecrated as of a future date (Sec. 9). Consecration for repair of the Temple of offerings, firstlings, tithe, shekel, or first fruits (Secs. 10-16). Consecration of slaves (Secs. 17-19). Free man's body cannot become sacred (Sec. 20). One cannot consecrate what is not his or is not under his control (Secs. 21-25). Potential property may not be devoted (Secs. 26-27). Husband who consecrates his wife's handiwork, or her hands (Sec. 28). A person may, prior to sale or pledge, declare a field sacred after repurchase or redemption (Sec. 29). Consecration terminates tenancy (Sec. 30). Person pledging himself to consecrate potential property is obligated to consecrate it when it is realized (Secs. 31-33). Consecration in error invalid (Sec. 34).

193

Chapter 7. Sacred things may be redeemed with money or its equivalent, but not with land, slaves, or bonds (Sec. 1). The owner, his wife, or his heir, must add a fifth, likewise payable in chattels (Sec. 2). Payment of principal effects redemption (Sec. 3). Additional fifth payable only by consecrator, and only for the primary object of consecration (Sec. 4). Substitution or exchange of animals (Secs. 5-9). Valuation by three—not two—appraisers determines value (Sec. 10). Conjectured valuation (Sec. 11). Sacred things whose prices fluctuate during redemption (Secs. 12-13). Consecrated property encumbered by mortgage of wife's marriage settlement or creditor's claim (Secs. 14-16). One who divorces his wife after consecrating all of his property (Sec. 17). One who admits liabilities after consecration (Sec. 18). Sick man who consecrates his property and admits liabilities (Sec. 19). Rumored consecration, devotion, or renunciation ineffective (Sec. 20). 200

Chapter 8. Court should effect redemption of consecrated and devoted things (Sec. 1). Movable must be appraised by three experts, land and persons by ten, of whom one must be a priest (Sec. 2). Procedure of the auction (Secs. 3-7). Vows of consecration and devotion may not be made when there is no Temple (Sec. 8). Redemption at the present time (Secs. 9-10). Objects devoted at the present time (Sec. 11). Vows of consecration or valuation, while a matter of religious duty, are not essential (Sec. 12). One should not expend in the way of piety more than a fifth of his possessions (Sec. 13). 206

ABBREVIATIONS	211
NOTES	213
GLOSSARY	254
SCRIPTURAL REFERENCES	257
INDEX	259