

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Abbreviations	viii
Introduction: International Organizations and Environmental Protection in the Global Twentieth Century	1
Wolfram Kaiser and Jan-Henrik Meyer
1. From Nature to Environment: International Organizations and Environmental Protection before Stockholm	31
Jan-Henrik Meyer
2. Environmental Problem-Solvers? Scientists and the Stockholm Conference	74
Enora Javaudin
3. Developing World Environmental Cooperation: The Founex Seminar and the Stockholm Conference	103
Michael W. Manulak
4. Only One Earth: The Holy See and Ecology	128
Luigi Piccioni
5. Sometimes it's the Economy, Stupid! International Organizations, Steel and the Environment	153
Wolfram Kaiser
6. Making the Polluter Pay: How the European Communities Established Environmental Protection	182
Jan-Henrik Meyer
7. (Re-)Thinking Environment and Economy: The Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development and Sustainable Development	211
Iris Borowy

8. Towards ‘Sustainable’ Development: The United Nations, INGOs and the Crafting of the World Conservation Strategy	241
Stephen Macekura
9. Protecting the Southern Ocean Ecosystem: The Environmental Protection Agenda of Antarctic Diplomacy and Science	268
Alessandro Antonello
10. Controlling the Agenda: Science, Policy and the Making of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change	293
David G. Hirst
Conclusion: Setting Agendas, Building Institutions and Shaping Binding International Commitments	317
Wolfram Kaiser and Jan-Henrik Meyer
Index	333