

Contents

Illustrations	vii
Notes on Contributors	viii
Acknowledgments	xi
Introduction: The Postcolonial Moment Gyan Prakash, Michael Laffan, Nikhil Menon	1
1 “False Truth”: Disillusionment and Hope in the Decade after Independence Rotem Geva	11
2 The Enemy Within: Communism and the New Pakistani State Kamran Asdar Ali	31
3 Contested Meanings of Postcolonialism and Independence in Burma Mandy Sadan	49
4 The Marginal State: Practicing Islamic Statehood in Independent Indonesia Chiara Formichi	67
5 Evacuee Property and the Management of Economic Life in Postcolonial India Rohit De	87
6 Struggles for Citizenship around the Bay of Bengal Sunil Amrith	107
7 The Postwar “Returnee,” Tamil Culture, and the Bay of Bengal Bhavani Raman	121
8 Anxious Constitution-Making Gyan Prakash	141
9 Making Universal Franchise and Democratic Citizenship in the Postcolonial Moment Ornit Shani	163
10 Toward Mass Education or an “Aristocracy of Talents”: Nonalignment and the Making of a Strong India Neeti Nair	183

11	“The World Has Changed”: Development, Land Reform, and the Ethical Work of India’s Independence Benjamin Siegel	201
12	“Help the Plan—Help Yourself”: Making Indians Plan-Conscious Nikhil Menon	221
13	The Past and Future of the Muslim Postcolonial Moment: Islamic Economy and Social Justice in South Asia Julia Stephens	243
14	Straight from Mecca: Medan, Hamka, and the Coming of Islam to Indonesia Michael Laffan	265
	Index	284