

Contents

Foreword	ix
Acknowledgements	xiii
Chronology	xiv
Introduction	1
1: The Word on the Streets: Editorials and Political Cartoons in English-Language Dailies (1947)	37
2: ‘Dare to Know’: Aug. 15, 1947, the Partition	111
3: Narratives of Pain: Fiction and Autobiography as ‘Psychotestimonies’ to the Partition	165
4: The Children of India Remember: Reflections, Chronicles, Diaries and Autobiographies	201
5: The Rhetoric of Anxiety: The End of the Raj in the Writings of the British and the British Press	237
Conclusion	303
Appendix A: Historical Background to the Partition in the Punjab	307
Appendix B: History of the Indian Press under Colonial Rule	319
Appendix C: Biographies	329
Notes	337
Bibliography	385
Index	401