

Contents

Preface and Acknowledgements — VII

1 Horace, his Poetry, Maecenas — 1

1.1 General Introduction — 1

1.2 References — 8

1.2.1 The Literary Frame — 10

1.2.2 The Functional Frame — 11

1.3 Horace's Life — 14

1.3.1 Autobiography in Horace's Poetry — 14

1.3.2 Horace's "Biography" — 17

1.4 Horace and Maecenas: Patronage or Amicitia? — 23

2 The Sermones (Satires): Preparing for the Future as a Political Commentator — 32

2.1 Introduction to the Chapter — 32

2.2 Sermones, Book 1: Conversation Pieces — 46

2.2.1 Sermones 1.1 and 1.2: The Cynical Ways of the Aristocracy and the Nouveau Riche — 47

2.2.2 Sermones 1.3 and 1.4: From Censuring the Elite and the Nouveau Riche to a Serious Conversation with Friends — 73

2.2.3 Sermones 1.5 and 1.6: Horace's Credentials for Maecenas Continued: A Journey to Brundisium; Youth and Education in Venusia and Rome — 126

2.2.4 Sermones 1.7 and 1.8: Threats from the East: Parthia and Egypt — 166

2.2.5 Sermones 1.9 and 1.10: Maecenas' Circle: No Place for Nouveau Riche. Horace's Literary Programme for Several Genres; the Literary Schools Revisited — 190

3 Summary of Sermones Book 1: Horace's Credentials Containing Political Commentary; Virgil's Eclogae and Horace's Sermones Book 1 Compared — 231

3.1 Introduction to the Chapter — 231

3.2 Summary of Sermones Book 1 — 231

3.3 The First Book of Sermones: Horace's Credentials and His Political Commentary — 254

3.4 Virgil's Eclogae and Horace's Sermones Book 1 Compared — 263

Appendix — 269

Bibliography — 271

Index — 286