

CONTENTS

Series preface vii

Notes on contributors viii

- Introduction: On ‘schoolmen’s cunning notes’ 1

Lynn Enterline

Part One Reckoning with rhetoric

- 1 ‘Reck’ning’ with Shakespeare’s Orpheus in
The Rape of Lucrece 21

Jenny C. Mann

- 2 Poetry at the limits of rhetoric in Shakespeare’s
The Rape of Lucrece 45

Rachel Eisendrath

Part Two Debating mimesis

- 3 Epic Oenone, pastoral Paris: Undoing
the Virgilian rota in Thomas Heywood’s
Oenone and Paris 71

Joseph M. Ortiz

- 4 ‘Arte with her contending, doth aspire
T’excell the naturall’: Contending for representation in the Elizabethan epyllion 95

Andrew Fleck

- 5 Learning to read with Lucrece 119
Catherine Nicholson

Part Three Epyllia, masculinity and sexuality

- 6 From discontent to disdain: Thomas Lodge's Scillaes Metamorphosis and the Inns of Court 143
Jessica Winston
- 7 Love will tear us apart: Campion's Umbra and Shakespeare's Venus and Adonis 167
John S. Garrison
- 8 Love loves: Venus and Adonis, Venus and Anchises 189
Stephen Guy-Bray

Part Four Classicism and mercantile capital

- 9 Crossing the Hellespont: The erotics of the everyday in Marlowe's Hero and Leander 207
Jane Raisch
- 10 'Unthriftie waste': Epyllia, idleness and general economy 237
Barbara Correll

Appendix 257

Index 258