

Table of Contents

Foreword – Words and Music at the Origins of Italian Literature	9
Introduction – What is Musical Narrative?	15
1 Music in Exodus	39
1.1 Music in Selected Late Medieval Haggadot	44
1.2 Female Protagonists	51
1.3 Frame Story: Multi-Linear Narrative	55
1.4 Themes of Fleeing and Chasing in Musical Narrative	57
1.5 Boccaccio’s First Musical Narrative: Comedia delle ninfe fiorentine	64
1.6 Musical Overview	66
1.7 Donneschi suoni	69
1.8 The Nymphs’ Songs	71
1.9 Comparison to the Decameron	79
2 The Decameron as Musical Narrative	83
2.1 Boccaccio in Naples	85
2.2 The Hexameron , Music, and the Frame Story Ballatas	94
2.3 Ballatas and Sacred Laudas	104
2.4 Musical Stories	128
3 Fifteenth-Century Boccaccio Imitators	135
3.1 Caterina de’ Vigri	136
3.2 Giovanni Sabadino degli Arienti	159
3.3 Girolamo Parabosco	173

4	Dialogues after Boccaccio	179
4.1	Pietro Bembo, Gli Asolani and Prose della volgar lingua	180
4.2	Antonfrancesco Doni, Dialogo della musica	200
	Epilogue – Gioseffo Zarlino, the Storyteller	215
	Index	263

Suggested Listening: <https://soundcloud.com/boraneck/sets>