

Contents

List of Figures	ix
List of Tables	xi
Acknowledgements	xiii
Introduction	I
PART I Setting the context	9
JEREMY LAWRENCE
1 Why Golden Age?	ii
STUART DAVIS
2 The Golden Age in the Hispanic Studies classroom: The changing shape of what we teach our undergraduates in the UK	31
PART II Teaching the old through the new	55
ALMUDENA GARCÍA GONZÁLEZ
3 El estudio del mundo literario de la España del siglo diecisiete desde la ficción televisiva del siglo ventiuno: autores, obras y contexto presentes en El Ministerio del Tiempo	57
TED BERGMAN
4 What 50 Cent can teach us about Quevedo: The case for using analogy and video clips	71

COLLIN MCKINNEY
5 The next best thing?: Introducing Don Quijote as a graphic novel	87
IDOYA PUIG
6 Teaching literature and language using a multiliteracies framework: Exploring intercultural skills with Cervantes's La española inglesa	105
JULES WHICKER
7 Technologically assisted translational activity: An approach to teaching Spanish Golden Age literature	123
PART III Teaching poetry	139
KARL McLAUGHLIN
8 Meaningful parallels for students: Golden Age poetic production as examples of talent shows and celebrity spats	141
ANTONIO CARREÑO-RODRÍGUEZ
9 Golden Age 'diss tracks': Teaching Baroque poetry and polemic through rap	159
RUBÉN CRISTÓBAL HORNILLOS
10 La poesía clásica a través de canciones actuales	177
PART IV Teaching theatre	191
AROA ALGABA GRANERO AND SARA SÁNCHEZ-HERNÁNDEZ
II El proyecto de innovación docente TAAULA. El teatro áureo en el aula de Filología	193

GEMA CIENFUEGOS ANTELO

- 12 Escenas para el aula de E/LE: el personaje femenino en el teatro del Siglo de Oro 211

DUNCAN WHEELER

- 13 The pedagogic potential (and limitations) of cinematic adaptations 227

Notes on contributors 249

Index 255