

CONTENTS

1	Introduction: Technicity and the American Techno-City	1
	The Technological Entrepôt	5
	The Poem Machine	12
	Technicity, Feminism and the Posthuman	14
	Gender, Poetry and the Techno-City	22
	Works Cited	40
2	Let's Go Shopping	45
	Shopping the Feminine in Rogue Magazine	49
	Women, Consumerism and New York	56
	Selling the Subject	80
	Works Cited	89
3	Amusing Spaces	93
	Amusement Parks	97
	Bohemia	108
	Black Metropolis	124
	Works Cited	141
4	Dancing Bodies	147
	Dancing Machines and Isadora	154
	Spectacle, Dance and the Non-human	167
	Dancing Across Modernity	176
	Works Cited	187

5	Feminine Projections	193
	Stars and Vamps	199
	Modernist Women in Close Up	209
	The Camera Eye, Politics and Hollywood	221
	Works Cited	240
6	Sound Machines	245
	Electro-Acoustic Sound, Noise and the Techno-City	250
	Broadcasting Stein	267
	Women Writing Radio	272
	Works Cited	289
7	Epilogue: Digital Humanities and Posthuman Feminist Modernism	293
	Works Cited	298
	Index	299