

Contents

Dorothy M. Figueira
Introduction	7

Part I The Profession

Dorothy M. Figueira
Chapter 1: How Have We Rebuilt the Profession?	15

Gerald Gillespie
Chapter 2: The Way(s) Forward: Further Self-Mappings by the Motley Crew of International Comparative Literature	33

Stanley A. Corngold
Chapter 3: The Future of the Humanities in 1975	43

Part II Spariosu, his Work, and his World

Ovidiu Verdeş
Chapter 4: Dionysus, Nietzsche, and Literature	67

Vlad B. Jecan
Chapter 5: Towards Irenic Mixed Reality: An Experiment in Play and the Cybernetic Imagination	91

Dong Yang
Chapter 6: Infinite Cartography: Spariosu, Deleuze, and the Practice of Knowledge	107

Adela Fofiu
Chapter 7: An Auto-Ethnography of Hope	129

Corina-Mihaela Beleaua

Chapter 8: Practices of Intercultural Studies in Teaching Literature 143

Florin Berindeanu

Chapter 9: Mihai I. Spariosu Between Theory and Philosophy 157

Victor Neumann

Chapter 10: The Romanian Anti-Totalitarian Revolt of 1989: The Role of Timișoara and the Beginnings of Political Change in Romania 161

Róbert Gáfrik

Chapter 11: Imagining the Orient in Central Europe: An Intercultural
Studies Project 175

Part III The Divine, Animism, and Mimesis

Mikhail Epstein

Chapter 12: Theses on Poor Faith 191

Gabriele Schwab

Chapter 13: Experimental Animisms: Humans and their Others 207

Monica Spiridon

Chapter 14: Reversed Mimesis: Real Life and the Rules of the Literary Game 219

Dragan Kujundžić

Chapter 15: Beyond Comparison: Auerbach's Comparative Literature
as a Diasporic Experience 231

Frederick Turner

Tribute: An Olive Wreath for Mihai 239