

Table of Contents

List of Plates and Figures	7
Introduction: A Fresh Vision of the Natural World in Renaissance Italy Karen Goodchild, April Oettinger, Leopoldine Prosperetti	17
Part I. Devotional Viridescence
1. The Green Places of Fra Filippo Lippi and Sandro Botticelli Rebekah Compton	31
2. Anthropomorphic Trees and Animated Nature in Lorenzo Lotto's 1509 St. Jerome April Oettinger	49
3. 'Honest voluptas': The Renaissance Justification for Enjoyment of the Natural World Paul Holberton	69
Part II. Building Green
4. "The Sala delle Asse as Locus Amoenus : Revisiting Leonardo da Vinci's Arboreal Imagery in Milan's Castello Sforzesco" Jill Pederson	89
5. Naturalism and Antiquity, Redefined, in Vasari's Verzure Karen Hope Goodchild	109
6. Verdant Architecture and Tripartite Chorography: Toeput and the Italian Villa Tradition Natsumi Nonaka	131
Part III. The Sylvan Exchange
7. Titian: Sylvan Poet Leopoldine Prosperetti	155
8. From Venice to Tivoli: Girolamo Muziano and the 'Invention' of the Tiburine Landscape Patrizia Tosini	175

9. Of Oak and Elder, Cloud-like Angels, and a Bird's Nest: The Graphic Interpretations of Titian's The Death of St. Peter Martyr by Martino Rota, Giovanni Battista Fontana, Valentin Lefebre, John Baptist Jackson, and their Successors Sabine Peinelt-Schmidt	197
10. The Verdant as Violence: The Storm Landscapes of Herman van Swanevelt and Gaspard Dughet Susan Russell	217
Afterword: A Brief Journey Through the Green World of Renaissance Venice Paul Barolsky	241
Works Cited	255
Index	277