

CONTENTS

1	Introduction Gerald Egan	1
2	Pastoral Authorship and Porcelain Figurines: Pope's Elite Aesthetic and the Fashionable Decorative Commodity Lauren Miskin	21
3	'Magnificent as Well as Singular': Hester Thrale's Polynesian Court Dress of 1781 Serena Dyer	43
4	Becoming Somebody: Refashioning the Body Politic in Mary Robinson's Nobody Terry F. Robinson	63
5	Nobleman Incognito: Byron's Albanian Dress Gerald Egan	101
6	Fraser's Magazine and the Instability of Literary Fashion Richard Salmon	129

7	Fashioning Femininity in the 1840s: Charlotte Brontë and Villette Birgitta Berglund	155
8	No Room for the “Woman of Fashion”: Male Authorship, Anti-fashion, and Wilkie Collins’ The Woman in White Loretta Clayton	181
9	The Writer and the Couturière: Authorship and Creative Industry in the 1870s Patricia Zakreski	207
10	‘Down to the last button ... in the fashion of the hour’: Virginia Woolf and the Writer of Modern Fiction Randi Koppen	231
11	Fashioning Modern and Modernist Authorship: Rebecca West in the 1920s and 1930s Margaret D. Stetz	255
12	Fashion as Self-Authorship, Escape from Fascist Terror, and Witness Testimony Phyllis Lassner	273
13	Fantasies of Femininity Redressed: Angela Carter’s Authorial Self-Fashioning Kimberly J. Lau	297
14	“Style Description: / Provenance: / Period.”: Martin Margiela, Fashion Authorship, and Romantic Literary History Timothy Campbell	321
	Index	341