

International Financial Centres after the Global Financial Crisis and Brexit

Edited by

Youssef Cassis and Dariusz Wójcik

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

List of Figures	xiii
List of Tables	xv
List of Contributors	xvii
1. Introduction: A Global Overview from a Historical Perspective Youssef Cassis	1
2. New York: Remains a, if not the, Pre-eminent International Financial Centre Richard Sylla	16
3. London: Downturn, Recovery and New Challenges—But Still Pre-eminent Richard Roberts	37
4. Paris: The Possibility of Revival as an International Financial Centre Laure Quennouëlle-Corre	61
5. Frankfurt: A Tale of Resilience in the Crises Eike W. Schamp	83
6. Zurich and Geneva: The End of the Golden Age Tobias Straumann	106
7. Hong Kong, Shanghai, and Beijing: China's Contenders for Global Financial Centre Leadership David R. Meyer	126
8. Singapore: Connecting Asian Markets with Global Finance Karen P.Y. Lai	154
9. Tokyo: Still Below its Potential as a Global Financial Centre Sayuri Shirai	182
10. Conclusions: A Global Overview from a Geographical Perspective Dariusz Wójcik and Theodor F. Cojoianu	207
Index	233