

Geographies of Embodiment in Early Modern England

Edited by

MARY FLOYD-WILSON AND GARRETT A. SULLIVAN, JR.

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

List of Figures		xi
List of Contributors		xv
1. Introduction		1
	Mary Floyd-Wilson and Garrett A. Sullivan, Jr.
2. How Gardens Feel: The Natural History of Sensation in Spenser and Milton		14
	Michael Schoenfeldt
3. Hi Mho Ji Kudd : The Transformation of Thomas Stephens in Goa		39
	Jonathan Gil Harris
4. Anatomy, Cartography, and the New World Body		64
	Valerie Traub
5. Place and Memory: History, Cognition, Phenomenology		113
	John Sutton
134	6. Meteorology, Embodiment, and Environment in Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream
	Mary Thomas Crane
152	7. 'My Hand Would Dissolve, Or Seem to Melt': Poetic Dissolution and Stoic Cosmology
	Kristen Poole
177	8. Passions of the Flock
	Julian Yates
197	9. Speaking (of) Faces: The Gestural Body in Measure for Measure
	Elizabeth D. Harvey
224	10. Sleeping in Error in Spenser's Faerie Queene , Book 1
	Garrett A. Sullivan, Jr.

11. The Habitation of Airy Nothings in A Midsummer Night's Dream	243
Mary Floyd-Wilson
Afterword	262
Gail Kern Paster
Index	271