

Posthumanism in the Novels of Kurt Vonnegut

Matter That Complains So

Andrew John Hicks

Contents

|                                                        |     |
|--------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| List of Figures                                 | vi  |
| Acknowledgements                                | vii |
| Introduction                                           | 1   |
| SECTION ONE                                            |     |
| Comic Material                                         | 23  |
| 1 Cat's Cradle: The Life and Times of Ice-Nine  | 25  |
| 2 Breakfast of Champions: Rebirth Suspended     | 52  |
| SECTION TWO                                            |     |
| Environment and Evolution                              | 73  |
| 3 Mother Night: A Nation of Two                 | 75  |
| 4 Galapagos: Writing on Air                     | 100 |
| SECTION THREE                                          |     |
| Space and Time                                         | 133 |
| 5 The Sirens of Titan: Matter That Complains So | 135 |
| 6 Slaughterhouse-Five: 'Poo-Tee-Weet?'          | 177 |
| Conclusion                                             | 216 |
| Works Cited                                     | 221 |
| Index                                           | 237 |