

CONTENTS

List of Figures ix

Acknowledgments xi

Note on Transliteration and Dates xv

Introduction i

- 1 Jewish Marginal People in Premodern Europe 17
- 2 Blind Beggars and Orphan Recruits: The Russian State, the Kabal, and Marginal Jews in the Early Nineteenth Century 39
- 3 "A Pile of Dust and Rubble": Poorhouses, Real and Imaginary 63
 - 4 The Cholera Wedding 89
- 5 A "Republic of Beggars"? Charity, Jewish Backwardness, and the Specter of the Jewish Idler 117
- 6 Madness and the Mad: From Family Burden to National Affliction 148
- 7 "We Singing Jews, We Jews Possessed":
The Jewish Outcast as National Icon 176

Epilogue 227

Conclusion: Jewish Intersectionality
at the European Fin-de-Siècle 237

Notes 243

Selected Bibliography 299

Index 331