

CONTENTS

1	Introduction: Global, Postcolonial, and World Literatures	1
	Part I: Global, Postcolonial, and World Literatures	1
	Part II: Literature and Crisis	7
	Part III: The Global Novel: Overview	11
	Works Cited	18
2	Global Literature, Realism, and the World-System in Crisis	25
	Part I: World Lite, Global Lit	25
	Part II: Realism, Form, and Crisis	28
	Part III: World-Systems Theory and Capitalism-in-Crisis	35
	Works Cited	41
3	“Worlds in Collision”: Salman Rushdie, Globalisation, and Postcoloniality-in-Crisis	45
	Part I: Introduction: Postcolonial Disenchantment	45
	Part II: The Moor’s Last Sigh and the Capitalist Realist Epic	48
	Part III: The Ground Beneath Her Feet’s Incommensurable Worlds	60
	Part IV: America’s Signal Crisis in Fury	68
	Works Cited	81

4	“Prophet Malthus Surveyed a Dustbowl”: David Mitchell, Neo-Malthusianism, and the World-Ecology in Crisis	87
	Part I: Introduction: A “Novel Globalism”	87
	Part II: Ghostwritten and the Global Optic of Hegemony	92
	Part III: Cloud Atlas, Neo-Malthusianism, and Eco-Apocalypse	103
	Part IV: The Bone Clocks, Vampirish Predacity, and Climate Change	115
	Works Cited	124
5	Aesthetic Attitudes to Globalisation: Rana Dasgupta, Capitalism-in-Crisis, and Narrating the World	131
	Part I: Introduction: World-Systemic Realism	131
	Part II: Globalisation and Capitalism-in-Crisis in Tokyo
	Cancelled	136
	Part III: Solo and Surviving Millennial Capitalism	150
	Works Cited	163
6	“FAC UT ARDEAT”: Rachel Kushner, the World-Historical Novel, and Energetic Materialism	169
	Part I: Introduction: Resources and Historical Novels	169
	Part II: Reading for Sugar in Telex from Cuba	173
	Part III: Galvanic Energy and Resistance in The Flamethrowers	181
	Works Cited	197
7	Conclusion: Towards a Literary Internationale?	201
	Works Cited	206
	Index	209