

Content

1 Introduction	1
2 Theoretical framework	7
2.1 Approaches in migrant entrepreneurship research.....	7
2.2 Embeddedness, social capital, and social ties.....	20
2.3 Transnational entrepreneurial activities of migrants	33
2.4 Research questions and conceptual framework.....	39
3 Migrants from the former Soviet Union in Germany	47
3.1 Migration to Germany.....	47
3.2 Social integration	52
3.3 Labour market integration	55
3.4 Self-employment of the former Soviet Union migrants.....	59
4 Study design and methodology	65
4.1 Setting of the study and definitory remarks	65
4.2 Qualitative approach.....	70
4.3 Sample.....	72
4.4 Interviews.....	80
4.5 Network maps.....	84
4.6 Data Analysis.....	89
5 Russian-speaking migrant market	93
5.1 Enclave economy in migrant entrepreneurship research.....	93
5.2 Russian-speaking migrant market in Germany.....	98
5.3 FSU migrant market in Düsseldorf and in Waldbröl.....	102
5.4 Overview of interviewed migrant market businesses.....	107

5.5 Types of migrant market businesses.....	112
5.6 Motivation to start a business in the migrant market.....	128
5.7 Social capital as a resource for migrant market.....	136
5.8 Client acquisition.....	146
5.9 Business-related relationships	153
5.10 Examples of business networks in migrant market.....	160
5.11 Conclusions	171
6 Mixed market businesses.....	175
6.1 Overview of interviewed mixed market businesses	177
6.2 Use of social capital in mixed market businesses.....	183
6.3 Moving from migrant market to mixed market.....	192
6.4 Moving from mainstream market to mixed market.....	197
6.5 Example of business network in mixed market.....	200
6.6 Conclusions	204
7 Mainstream market businesses	207
7.1 Overview of interviewed mainstream market businesses	209
7.2 Mainstream businesses in low entry barrier sectors	214
7.3 Mainstream businesses in knowledge-intensive sectors	220
7.4 Examples of business networks in mainstream market	224
7.5 Conclusions	234
8 Transnational entrepreneurial activities (TEA)	237
8.1 Overview of interviewed businesses involved in TEA.....	239
8.2 Forms of transnational entrepreneurial activities	246
8.3 Motivation for engaging and not engaging in TEA	253
8.4 TEA of temporary returnees	256

8.5 Types of transnational entrepreneurial activities.....	260
8.6 Examples of business networks involved in TEA.....	274
8.7 Conclusions	279
9 Conclusions of the study and outlook	283
References	291
Appendix A: Interview guide	323
Appendix B: Network map data collection instrument.....	329