

Contents

List of Figures	vii
Notes on the Contributors	ix
Acknowledgements	xiii
Introduction Stefano Baschiera and Miriam De Rosa	1
1 Architectures of Ubiquity: The Colonial Revival in Film and Television John David Rhodes	16
2 No Down Payment : Whiteness, Japanese American Masculinity and Architectural Space in the Cinematic Suburbs Merrill Schleier	37
3 Resist, Redefine, Appropriate: Negotiating the Domestic Space in Contemporary Female Biopics Victoria Pastor-González	56
4 Liminal Spaces, Lesbian Desire and Veering off Course in Todd Haynes's Carol Anna Backman Rogers	72
5 A Home on the Road in Claire Denis's Vendredi soir Maud Ceuterick	89
6 Acoustic Ectoplasm and the Loss of Home Beth Carroll	106
7 Our House Now: Flat and Reversible Home Spaces in Post-war Film and Television Adrian Martin	118
8 From Myth to Reality: Images of Domestic Space in Post-Soviet Baltic Films Lukas Brašiškis and Nerijus Milerius	134

9	No   Home   Movie: Essay Film, Architecture as Framing and the Non-house Laura Rascaroli	154
10	At Home with the Nouvelle Vague : Apartment Plots and Domestic Urbanism in Godard's Une femme est une femme and Varda's Cléo de 5 à 7 Stefano Baschiera	171
11	Dwelling the Open: Amos Gitai and the Home of Cinema Miriam De Rosa	188
12	What Is Cult When It's At Home? Reframing Cult Cinema in Relation to Domestic Space Iain Robert Smith	210
13	High-fructose Cinema and the Movie Industrial Complex: Radicalising the Technology of Representation in a Domestic Kind of Way Bryan Konefsky	226
	Index	237