
CONTENTS

Introduction	ix
Part I Life in the Austrian army, 1815–1848
1 The Austrian officer corps, 1815–1848	2
2 The common soldier, 1815–1848	34
3 Revolution, propaganda and desertion: Radetzky's army during 1848–1849 and the problem of cohesion	55
Part II Radetzky and the civil power in Lombardy-Venetia
4 The army before the Revolution	84
5 Civil–military relations before the Tobacco Riots	94
6 The Tobacco Riots and their aftermath	106
7 Divided we fall	119
8 Victory from the jaws of defeat	132
9 Dividing the spoils	153
Part III Radetzky as communist: The social psychology of the revolutionary crisis
10 The background	164
11 The Austrian army and the Lombard aristocracy	176
12 The reckoning	185
Conclusion	206
Appendices (1–16)	209
Abbreviations used in the notes	246
Notes	247
Index	284