

CONTENTS

1	The Ideal of Parliament in Europe Since 1800: Introduction	1
	Remieg Aerts and Joop Th. J. van den Berg
	Part I	Establishing Parliaments	23
2	Between National Character and an International Model: Parliaments in the Nineteenth Century	25
	Henk te Velde
3	Parliamentary Government in Southern Europe? The Model of the Cádiz Cortes and the Ideal of the Moderate Monarchy	41
	Jens Späth
4	The Men of 1830: Remembering the National Congress in the Belgian House of Representatives, 1844–1930	61
	Marnix Beyen

5	New Models and Old Traditions: Debates on Parliamentarism in Hungary After the Austro-Hungarian Settlement of 1867	77
	András Cieger
6	Experiencing Parliamentarism: The German National Assembly of 1848	95
	Andreas Schulz
Part II Crises of Expectations		115
7	Elusive Enthusiasm: Parliamentary Democracy in the Newly Founded European Nation-States After the First World War—The Case of Poland	117
	Stephanie Złoch
8	Closing the Expectation Gap? Crisis of Hungarian Parliamentarism in the Inter-War Period	139
	Kálmán Pócza
9	‘A Bad Parliamentarism’: Normative Expectations and Criticism of Parliamentarism in the Weimar Reichstag	159
	Thomas Raithel
Part III Resilience of Parliamentary Ideals		177
10	Trial and Error: Post-War Democracies and the Restoration of Parliamentarism—Italy, Austria, Germany	179
	Marie-Luise Recker
11	Too Ideal to Be a Parliament: The Representative Assemblies in Socialist Czechoslovakia, 1948–1989	199
	Adéla Gjuričová

12	The Transfer of Parliamentary Ideals to Civil Society in the Netherlands in the 1970s	219
	Wim de Jong
13	Change and Continuity: Implementing Parliamentary Democracy in Eastern Europe After 1989 with a Focus on Slovenia	239
	Jure Gašparič
14	Postscript	255
	Henk te Velde
	Index	259