

Sven Saaler

A Topography of Public Bronze Statuary
in Modern Japan

MEN IN METAL

BRILL

Leiden – Boston

2020

Contents

Preface	ix	4 Patterns of Social Behavior and Participation	94
Acknowledgments	x	Ideas, Proposals, and Networks	95
Note to Readers	xii	Approval and Financing	96
Introduction	2	Designing and Casting the Statue	99
		Unveiling and Reporting	100
		Utilizing the Statue	103
Part I	14	Part II	106
1 Roots	16	5 A Quantitative Analysis of Public Statuary in Modern Japan	108
Native Traditions	17	The Database	109
European Influences	19	The Historical Figures Depicted	110
Early Forms of the Cult of the Individual in Modern Japan	21	Categories	116
The Concept of “Great Men”	28	Gender	119
		Nationality	122
2 How Not to Be Seen: The Hidden Statuary of Emperor Meiji	32	Regional Distribution and Locations of Statues	123
The Emperor and the Birth of the Nation	33	Forms	125
Progresses and Portraits	34	Historical Cycles	128
A Statue for Emperor Meiji?	42
		6 A Typology of Public Statuary in Modern Japan	132
3 Beginnings: Statues of Imperial Figures	54	The Founders of Modern Japan:
The First “Man in Metal”: Yamato Takeru	55	Ōmura Masujirō	133
Emperors of the Past:		Loyalty and Rebellion: Saigō Takamori	140
The Keitai Statue in Fukui	66	Rehabilitating Renegades: Ii Naosuke	152
The Founder of the Empire: Jinmu Tennō	69	Constructing Imperial Loyalty as
Princes of the Present:		Timeless Virtue: Kusunoki Masashige	159
Imperial Statuary in the Capital	86	War Heroes	168
		Only the Good Die Young?
		Martyrs of the Restoration	176
		Religion and Nationalism:
		Nichiren and Kameyama	182
		Region and Nation: Statues of Daimyo	190

Part III	200	9 The Resurgence of Public Statuary in Postwar Japan	238
7 Mobilizing Japan's "Men in Metal" in the Asia-Pacific War	202	Public Statuary during the Allied Occupation of Japan: The Construction of the "New Japan"	239
Mass Production	203	The CIE "War Monument Study" Monument Committees	242
The "Three Human Bullets"	204	New Monuments for a "New Japan"	250
National Mobilization and State Control of Metals	207	10 Public Statuary since the 1960s	256
The Last "Men in Metal"	209	Representatives of a "Cultural Japan"	257
Statues in Education and Festivals	212	Statues of Military Figures in Postwar Japan	260
The Greatest Hero of All: A Man in Cement	217	The Re-emergence of the Heroes of the Meiji Restoration	261
Meltdown	219	Statues of the Meiji Emperor	265
8 Colonial Statues and Their Legacy	226	Public Statuary from the 1990s to the Present	268
Taiwan	227	Conclusion	276
Korea	228	Notes	282
China/Manchukuo	229	Bibliography	329
Statues in Occupied Territories	235	Index	346
The Fate of Japanese Statues in Asia after 1945	235		