

Leon Podkaminer

A. Continuing improvements in Central and Eastern Europe – Russia and Ukraine have not yet turned the corner.....	1
1. Main features of recent economic developments.....	1
1.1 Widening gap between Central European countries and Russia and Ukraine.....	1
1.2 Different economic environments emerge in CEECs and CIS.....	2
1.3 Importance of macroeconomic policy.....	3
2. Performance in 1995 and short-term prospects.....	6
2.1 Faster GDP recovery in CEECs, slower decline in Russia and Ukraine.....	6
2.2 Labour productivity and unemployment.....	9
2.3 Rising investment in CEECs, further decline in Russia and Ukraine.....	11
2.4 Moderate inflation persists in CEECs, lower mega-inflations in Russia and Ukraine.....	13
2.5 Fast expansion of foreign trade, real appreciation of domestic currencies.....	15
2.6 High inflow of foreign exchange in some CEECs.....	19
3. Summary: positive trends in CEECs; Russia has not yet turned the corner; poor prospects for Ukraine.....	21

Peter Havlik

B. Trends in purchasing power parities and competitiveness in Central and Eastern Europe.....	25
--	----

C. Country reports

Rumen Dobrinsky

Bulgaria: positive trends gain momentum.....	40
--	----

Hermine Vidovic

Croatia: economy suffering from military operations.....	47
--	----

Josef Pöschl

Czech Republic: the new OECD member on a growth path.....	52
---	----

Sándor Richter

Hungary: successful stabilization.....	60
--	----

Leon Podkaminer

Poland in 1995: outstanding economic performance despite political turbulence.....	68
--	----

Gábor Hunya

Romania: economic growth under growing foreign disequilibrium.....	75
--	----

Zdenek Lukas

Slovak Republic: impressive economic growth despite political instability.....	83
--	----

Hermine Vidovic

Slovenia: green light for the repayment of commercial bank credits.....	91
---	----

Peter Havlik

Russian economy hits bottom in 1995.....	96
--	----

Helen Boss

Ukraine: better, but not good enough.....	103
---	-----