

I.

DISORIENTATION

– 20 –

Bruno Latour and Dipesh Chakrabarty
When the Global Reveals the Planetary:
Bruno Latour Interviews Dipesh Chakrabarty

– 24 –

Sonia Levy
For the Love of Corals: Life in the Ruins of the Museum

– 32 –

Jan Zalasiewicz
The Anthropocene Square Meter

– 36 –

Clémence Hallé and Anne-Sophie Milon
The Infinity of the Anthropocene:
A (Hi)story with a Thousand Names

– 44 –

Robert Boschman
Climate Snap: At the Sign of the White Flower

– 50 –

Karen Holmberg
Landing on the Terrestrial Volcano

– 56 –

John Tresch
Around the Pluriverse in Eight Objects: Cosmograms for the Critical Zone

– 58 –

Richard Powers
The Story So Far

– 70 –

Bruno Latour and Peter Weibel
Preface by the Editors and Acknowledgments

– 8 –

Hortensia Völckers and Kirsten Haß
Welcome Address of the German Federal Cultural Foundation

– 11 –

Seven Objections Against Landing on Earth

– 12 –

II.

DISCONNECTED

– 72 –

Pierre Charbonnier
“Where Is Your Freedom Now?”
How the Moderns Became Ubiquitous

– 76 –

Paul Jobin
Extractivism in the Critical Zone

– 80 –

Timothy Mitchell
Uber Eats:
How Capitalism Consumes the Future

– 84 –

Steve Banwart
Domesticating Soil in Earth’s Critical Zone

– 89 –

Robert Boschman
Uranium City Series on Abandonment, Two Field Trips

– 94 –

Gerard de Vries
What on Earth Does Climate Have to Do with Law and Liberty?
Revisiting Montesquieu’s Theory of Climate

– 102 –

Matthieu Duperrex
Landscape and Hybrid Sedimentology

– 110 –

Stefanie Rau
Words for a Tongue We Are Losing

– 112 –

Joseph Leo Koerner
Geognosy

– 114 –

III.

CRITICAL ZONES

– 118 –

Jérôme Gaillardet
The Critical Zone, a Buffer Zone,
the Human Habitat

– 122 –

Alexandra Arènes
Traveling through the Critical Zone

– 130 –

Marie-Claire Pierret
The Strengbach Catchment Environmental Observatory: A Needful Key for a Global Investigation of the Critical Zone

– 136 –

Susan L. Brantley
The Critical Zone Paradigm – A Personal View

– 140 –

Daniel D. Richter and Sharon A. Billings
Ansichten der Calzone:*
Views of the Calhoun Critical Zone Observatory

– 142 –

William E. Dietrich
The Critical Zone Revelation: I Am in the Skin

– 146 –

Aleksandar Rankovic
Exploring Trees, Soils, and Microbes in the Streets of Paris

– 150 –

Simon Schaffer
Beware of Precursors:
How Not to Trace the History of the Critical Zone

– 154 –

Bruno Latour
Sara Sze as the Sculptor of Critical Zones

– 158 –

Jeanne Etelain
This Planet Which Is Not One:
On the Notion of Zone

– 160 –

IV.

GAIA

– 164 –

Timothy M. Lenton and Sébastien Dutreuil
What Exactly Is the Role of Gaia?

– 168 –

Timothy M. Lenton and Sébastien Dutreuil
Distinguishing Gaia from the Earth System(s)

– 176 –

Sébastien Dutreuil
Gaia Is Alive

– 180 –

Bettina Korintenberg
Life in a Bubble:
The Failure of Biosphere 2 as a Total System

– 184 –

Pauline Goul
1610 Wood/Cut: The Anthropocene, Uprooted

– 188 –

Alexander W. Schindler and Anne Schreiber
The Mechanical Discovery of Ultrastability

– 190 –

Anuradha Mathur and Dilip da Cunha
Wetness Is Everywhere;
Why Do We See Water Somewhere?

– 192 –

Ali Gharib
The Star Trek Universe:
An Idealized Humanity in Virtualized Space

– 204 –

Siegfried Zielinski
The World as Organism and Machine: Jesuit Geophysics in the Early Modern Era

– 208 –

Laura Dassow Walls
Recalling Humboldt's Planet

– 212 –

V.

TERRESTRIAL

– 224 –

Isabelle Stengers

The Earth Won't Let Itself Be Watched

– 228 –

Verónica Calvo Valenzuela

Tarabuco

– 236 –

Sarah Vanuxem

Freedom through Easements

– 240 –

Dorothea Condé and Pierre-Yves Condé

Turning Sovereignty Upside Down

– 247 –

Estelle Zhong Mengual

The Point of View of the Mountain

– 250 –

Vinciane Despret

Inhabiting the Phonocene with Birds

– 254 –

Johanna Ziebritzki

Sensorium of the Earthbound

– 260 –

Hanna Jurisch

Museum of Natural History

– 264 –

Emilie Hache

Born from Earth: A New Myth for Earthbounds

– 266 –

VI.

DIVIDED

– 272 –

Bruno Latour

"We Don't Seem to Live on the Same Planet" –
A Fictional Planetarium

– 276 –

Mira Hirtz

Embodied Constellation: Reflection on the Seven Planets Exercise

– 282 –

Nikolaj Schultz

Life as Exodus

– 284 –

Daniel Irrgang

Transhumanist Eschatology

– 288 –

Simon Schaffer

On the Difficulty of Animating the Earth

– 292 –

Yohji Suzuki

Fabian in 1621, a Divided Soul

– 296 –

Emanuele Coccia

Nature Is Not Your Household

– 300 –

Benedikte Zitouni

The Promises of the New Wetlands

– 304 –

Nikolaj Schultz

New Climate, New Class Struggles

– 308 –

Joseph Leo Koerner

Self-Portrait in Distress

– 312 –

Bettina Korintenberg, Rachel Libeskind,
Robert Preusse, Stefanie Rau

Glossolalia: Tidings from Terrestrial Tongues

– 318 –

VII.

DEPICTION

— 326 —

Joseph Leo Koerner
Nature Painting

— 330 —

Jennifer Gabrys
Sensing a Moving Planet

— 342 —

Bronislaw Szerszynski
The Grammar of Action in the Critical Zone

— 344 —

Lena Reitschuster
Beyond Individuals: Lynn Margulis and Her Holobiontic Worlds

— 350 —

Olga Lukyanova
Depicting Holobiont

— 354 —

Michael Flower
How to Visualize Cells as Overlapping Trajectories of Profiles

— 356 —

Jonathan Gray
The Datafication of Forests?
From the Wood Wide Web to the Internet of Trees

— 364 —

Anna Krzywoszynska
Soil Care Network: Caring for Soil as Building Relations

— 372 —

Daria Mille
Trajectories of Modernization in Russia:
Artists Recalibrating the Sensorium

— 374 —

Pierre Wat
The Skin of the World

— 380 —

VIII.

SUSPENDED

— 382 —

Peter Weibel
My Earth Odyssey

— 386 —

Martin Guinard and Bettina Korintenberg
Observatories for Terrestrial Politics:
Sensing the Critical Zones

— 402 —

Bruno Latour
Neo Rauch's Unknown Masterpiece

— 430 —

Frédérique Ait-Touati
Arts of Inhabiting: Ancient and New Theaters of the World

— 432 —

Donna Haraway
Carrier Bags for Critical Zones

— 440 —

Authors' Biographies

— 448 —

Works in the Exhibition

Critical Zones: Observatories for Earthly Politics

— 457 —

Index of Names

— 468 —