

Contents

1 Before the Nautical Almanacs . . . . .	1
P. Kenneth Seidelmann
2 King Charles and the Founding of the Royal Observatory . . . . .	21
Adam J. Perkins
3 Edmond Halley, Isaac Newton and the Longitude Act of 1714. . . . .	69
Adam J. Perkins
4 The First Nautical Almanac and Astronomical Ephemeris . . . . .	145
Jim Bennett
5 The British and American Nautical Almanacs in the 19th Century . .	157
Adam J. Perkins and Steven J. Dick
6 International Cooperation . . . . .	199
P. Kenneth Seidelmann
7 The Almanacs in the 20th Century: Computers and Applications. . . .	211
Bernard D. Yallop and Catherine Y. Hohenkerk
8 Reference Systems. . . . .	241
Dennis D. McCarthy
9 Evolution of The Nautical Almanac &amp; Celestial Navigation Today . .	263
Steven A. Bell, John A. Bangert, and George H. Kaplan
Index. . . . .	313