

Contents

Introduction	xi
Readings across the Caribbean	xvi
Notes	xxvi
1 The Violence of History: Jean Rhys's Wide Sargasso Sea	1
A Jagged Trajectory	4
A Shattered Identity	8
Ricochets	10
Historical Fictions	14
Rewritings	21
Notes	27
2 An Education in Violence: Merle Hodge's Crick Crack, Monkey	31
Schools for the Few	32
Cultural Stakes	36
Stone, Crime, and Punishment	41
Subjects and Subject Matters	45
Postcolonial Curriculumms	48
Notes	53
3 Gendered Violence: Gisèle Pineau's The Drifting of Spirits	57
Stalemates	60
Death of a Teacher	63
Matadoras	69
Notes	75
4 The Politics of Violence: Patrick Chamoiseau's Texaco	79
From Dreams to Stones	81
Beginnings	85
The "Julot-Effect"	90

Caribbean Political Realities	94
Notes	100
5 Violent Dreams: Michelle Cliff's Abeng	105
Who are the Savages?	109
Literary Echoes	111
Ruination	114
Notes	121
Conclusion: The Age of the Stone	125
Notes	128
Bibliography	129
Index	137
About the Author	141