

CONTENTS

Introduction ix

PART 1 THE MEDIEVAL GLUTTON

- 1. The Prestige of the Big Person 3
 - Spontaneous Vigor 3
 - What Insults? 6
 - From Big to Very Big 7

- 2. Liquids, Fat, and Wind 10
 - Matters of Fat 10
 - The Deviations of Wind and Water 12
 - Gout and Gout Sufferers 14
 - The “Simplicity” of Evacuations 15

- 3. The Horizon of Fault 17
 - The Clerical Model 18
 - The Medical Model 19
 - The Courtly Model 21

- 4. The Fifteenth Century and the Contrasts of Slimming 23
 - The Ascendancy of Images 24
 - A Social Distinction? 25
 - Lifestyles and Conflicts 26
 - The “Laborious” Place of Beauty 28

PART 2 THE "MODERN" OAF

- 5. The Shores of Laziness 33
"Modern" Activity and Passivity 33
From Private Insult to Public Code 36
Resistances and Fascinations 38
The Refusal of All Skinniness 41
- 6. The Plural of Fat 45
Dramatizing the Threat 45
Fear of Apoplexy 47
Fat Talk, an Abstract Discourse 49
Specifying Hydropsy 51
Specifying the Excess of Gout 53
- 7. Exploring Images, Defining Terms 55
Images and Realism of Features 55
The Choice of Rubens 57
The Power and Powerlessness of Words 59
- 8. Constraining the Flesh 64
The Beginning of an Evaluation 64
Only the "High" Size 67
Diets and "Modern" Restraints 69
Drying Out 71
Vinegar and Chalk 73
Belts, Blades, and Corsets 75

PART 3 FROM OAFISHNESS TO POWERLESSNESS: THE ENLIGHTENMENT AND SENSIBILITY

- 9. Inventing Nuance 79
"Tireless" Measuring and "Fruitless" Measuring 79
Waist or Weight? 81
Inventing the Means 82
The First Specifications of Forms 84
Masculine "Gravity" and Social "Gravity" 87
- 10. Stigmatizing Powerlessness 90
Introducing a New Word, Obesity 91
The Bad Symptom: Insensitivity 94
The Criticism of the Affluent 95
The Big Bad Husband 97

11. Toning Up	99
The Virtue of "Tonics" 99
The Virtue of "Excitants" 101
Electric Dreams 102
The Nerve Regimen 103
Plants or Meats? 105
The Chemistry Revolution 106

PART 4 THE BOURGEOIS BELLY

12. The Weight of Figures	111
The Presence of Numbers 111
Figuring the Waist-Weight Relation 112
The Question of Self-Weighing 113
13. Typology Fever	116
"Gastrophoric" Men, Adipose Women 117
The Bourgeois and the Avowed Belly 120
The Bourgeois and the Lamped Belly 121
Romantically Thin? 123
14. From Chemistry to Energy	125
The Aqueous and the Adipose: New Distinctions 125
Fat and Fire 127
Fat and "Morbid Imminence" 129
15. From Energy to Diets	131
The Consequences of Energy 131
The Question of Creating an "Art of Living Well" 133
The Archaic and the Modern 134
The "Misfortune" and Me: The New Status of Obesity 135

PART 5 TOWARD THE "MARTYR"

16. The Dominance of Aesthetics	141
The Spread of Weighing 142
The First Conflicts Between Charts 143
The Exposure of Bodies 145
The Ascendancy of Women's Hips 146
From the Masculine Waist to the Muscular "Discovery" 148
From Aesthetics to the Conflict of Images 151

17. Clinical Obesity and Everyday Obesity	154
Forms and Numerically Measured Degrees	155
Retarding Nutrition and Excess Nutrition	156
The Degenerative Obsession	158
The Explosion of Diets	159
The Socializing and Chemistry of Spa Life	162
The Ascendancy of Advertisers	164
18. The Thin Revolution	166
The "Defect of Civilization"	167
The Dashing Slender Male	168
The Dashing Slender Female	169
The "Graduated" Anatomy	170
The Creation and the "Monstrous"	171
19. Declaring "the Martyr"	174
Revolutionizing the First Degrees	175
The Multiplication of Pathologies	176
The Multiplication of Therapies	177
The Evidence of Therapeutic Failures	179
Between Trial and Martyr	181

PART 6 CHANGES IN THE CONTEMPORARY DEBATE: AN IDENTITY PROBLEM AND AN INSIDIOUS EVIL

The Affirmation of an "Epidemic"	186
"Counterattacks"?	187
The Dynamics of Thinness, the Dynamics of Obesity	188
The Effects of Thinness	189
A "Multifactor" Universe	190
The Self, the Trial, and Identity	193

Conclusion	197
-------------------	------------

Notes 201

Index 249