

Contents

	Acknowledgments	11
	Prologue	17
1	Ovid's Heroides : "Genesis" and Genre	29
	The Search for the Lost Father	30
	* The Heroines' Discourses	34
	The Trace of Sappho	50
2	The Irremediable: Heloise to Abelard	63
	The Forms of Tyranny, the Tyranny of Forms	64
	The Literary History of the Letters	84
3	Disorder and Early Sorrow: The Letters of a Portuguese Nun	91
	Writing under Erasure	92
	Barbin's Avis	98
	The Metamorphosis of Rhetoric	100
4	Passion as Suffering: The Composition of Clarissa Harlowe	119
	Forward, Backward, and Belfour	120
	The Lady's Legacy: The Trace of Ovid	129
	"When Honor's at the Stake": Clarissa's Elegy of Desire	140

5	Jane Eyre: The Ties That Blind 159 Charlotte Brontë's Letters to M. Heger 160 Blind Mouths: Critics of Gender and Jane Eyre 171 Jane Eyre's Blind Idolatry 178	159
6	The Author of Our Woe: Virtue Recorded in The Turn of the Screw 203 Copies of Desire 204 The Game of Equivocations 221 The Body in the Prologue 227	203
7	Devious Channels of Decorous Ordering: Rosa Coldfield in Absalom, Absalom! 241 Alien Discourse 242 Another Lost Father, Another Search 257 Theseus, Dionysus, and Ariadne's Thread 262 The Ledger 266 The Loom 273	241
8	Poetics, Passion, and Politics in The Three Marias: New Portuguese Letters 279 Laws and Outlaws 280 Masks and Veils, Miming and Mimesis 293 Disjointed Letters, Long Farewells 300 The Critical Reception 307	279
	Epilogue 313 Index 319	313 319