Contents

Acknowledgments x

Introducing constructing 1
Constructivism, or, does postmodernism exist? 1
Narrative turns 4
The story so far 8
Essaying 14

Part 1 Narrating literary histories

1 Telling postmodernist stories 19
The first story: "Post-Modernism" 19
Another story: exhaustion, replenishment 26
A third story: cognitive, postcognitive 32
The first story again: unlicensed metaphysics 35
Appendix 1.1: "Post-Modernism", Max Apple 38

2 Constructing (post)modernism: the case of Ulysses 42
Modernist Ulysses 44
Postmodernist Ulysses 47
Modernism-cut-in-half 55

Part 2 (Mis)reading Pynchon

3 Modernist reading, postmodernist text: the case of Gravity's Rainbow (1979) 61
Modernist (mis)readings 61
World under erasure 64
Mediums and mappings 73
De-conditioning the reader 81
Appendix 3.1: Writing Pynchon 83

4 "You used to know what these words mean": misreading Gravity's Rainbow (1985) 87
Being in uncertainties, mysteries, doubts 87
Circuits of narrative communication 89
The second person of Gravity's Rainbow 95
Misreading Gravity's Rainbow 105
Metareading 112

5 Zapping, the art of switching channels: on Vineland 115
Mediated lives 115
Representing TV 125
Mediated deaths 133

Part 3 Reading postmodernists

6 The (post)modernism of The Name of the Rose 145
Epistemology ("How can I interpret this world . . .?") 147
Ontology ("Which world is this?") 151
Topology and eschatology 157
Postscript to The Name of the Rose 163

7 Ways of world-making: on Foucault's Pendulum 165
Paranoid reading 165
"The Plan" and ways of world-making 172
The postmodernism of Foucault's Pendulum 176
Anti-paranoia 185

8 Women and men and angels: on Joseph McElroy's fiction 188
Metonymy; or, realism 188
Epistemology; or, modernism 194
Angelology; or, postmodernism? 198
Women and Men; or, late-modernism 205

9 "I draw the line as a rule between one solar system and another": the postmodernism(s) of Christine Brooke-Rose 207
Telling postmodernist stories otherwise 207
From Out to Thru: POSTmodernISM 209
From Amalgamemnon to Verbivore: as if SF 217

Part 4 At the interface

10 POSTcyberMODERNpunkISM 225
Cross the border? Close that gap? 225
Feedback in the literary system 227
In the loop (1): postmodernism recycled as cyberpunk 229
In the loop (2): cyberpunk recycled as postmodernism 233

Interface fiction 236
When it changed 237
Appendix 10.1 239
Appendix 10.2 240

11 Towards a poetics of cyberpunk 243
"Cyberwhatsis" 243
Cowboys and sundogs 247
Simstim 253
The final frontier 261

Notes 268
References 308
Index 325