

Contents

Preface to the Revised Edition	vii
Introduction	xvii
BOOK ONE THE ECONOMIC CONSEQUENCES	I
Part I Economics: Choice or Necessity?	3
1 Growthmania	3
2 The No-Choice Myth	10
3 Choice in Economic Policy	16
Part II Market Failure	22
4 The Spillover Enemy	22
5 The Institution of Amenity Rights	30
6 The Introduction of Separate Areas	39
Part III Transport and the City	47
7 Dereliction of the City	47
8 Traffic Blight	52
Part IV The Myth of Consumer Sovereignty	61
9 How Free Are We to Choose?	61
10 The Weak Link Between Choice and Welfare	69
Part V Measuring Real Income – an Economic Delusion	76
11 Growth of GNP: Conventional Adjustments and Reservations	76
12 Why Estimates of Secular Growth in Real Income Are Untenable	81

Contents

Part VI Institutional Obstacles to Environmental Sanity	89
13 Can 'The Tragedy of the Commons' be Averted?	89
14 Self-Sustaining Economic Predicaments	95
15 Political Obstacles to Environmental Accountability	102
BOOK TWO THE SOCIAL CONSEQUENCES	113
Part VII Towards an Admass Future	115
16 Reflections on the Good Life	115
17 When Goods Cease to be Good	125
18 Friendship and Trust	128
19 Travel – the Opiate of the Masses	136
Part VIII Pluralism, Conflict and Repression	142
20 Science and the Seeds of Discord	142
21 The Erosion of Personal Freedom	151
22 The Permissive Era – a Milestone on the Road to Repression	160
23 Economic Growth and the Growth of Crime	164
Part IX Further Reflections on Things to Come	169
24 Trapped Within a Growth Warp	169
25 Our Shrinking Planet	174
26 The Cult of Efficiency	178
27 Salvation by Science	184
Part X By Way of Epilogue	191
28 Faint Glimmers of Hope	191
29 Signs and Portents	196
30 In Conclusion	207
Appendix A The Balance of Payments	212
Appendix B Technological Unemployment	221
Appendix C Interpreting the Benefits of Private Transport	224
Appendix D The Rationale of Marginal-Cost Pricing	231
Index	239