

Contents

| | |
|---|-----|
| Introduction | 7 |
| Henning Andersen On the formation of the Common Slavic koiné | 11 |
| Harald Bichlmeier New methods in etymologizing the oldest layers of river names in Central Europe | 43 |
| Felix Biermann Transformation vs. migration: Early Slavic settlement in the territory of north-eastern Germany as a case study | 77 |
| Vít Boček The rise and expansion of Slavic in the light of Zimmer's model of Indo-Europeanization | 91 |
| Andrii Danylenko The Finno-Ugric substrate in North Russian, typological drift, and the sociolinguistic setting of northern Russian resultatives | 101 |
| Jiří Dynda Religion with no voice: Literary construction of Slavic paganism | 127 |
| Jadranka Gvozdanović Evaluating evidence on Slavic migrations | 151 |
| Jadranka Gvozdanović – Václav Blažek Cello-Slavic lexical parallels | 171 |
| Tomáš Klír Language, material culture, and ethnifying on the Carolingian borders: Slavs in Northeast Bavaria | 193 |

Jouko Lindstedt – Elina Salmela

Migrations and language shifts as components of the Slavic spread 275

Nada Profantová – Martin Profant

Ethnicity and the Culture with ceramics of the Prague type (Prague-Korchak) 301

Jiří Rejzek

Linguistic comments on Curta's making of the Slavs 341

List of contributors

351