Contents

List of Figures page xii
List of Tables xiii
Acknowledgements xv
List of Abbreviations xvi

1 Introduction 1
1.1 Teaching Directive Speech Acts: Is There Room for Improvement? 1
1.2 Objectives 5
1.3 Methodology 10
1.4 Chapter Contents 13

2 What Contemporary Research Tells Us about Speech Acts 16
2.1 Speech Acts: The Player All Linguistic Theories Want in Their Team 16
2.2 Team 1. Codification-Based Theories and the Over-Grammaticalisation of Speech Acts 18
2.2.1 Weaknesses of the Literal Force Hypothesis and Ross's Performative Hypothesis 18
2.2.2 Halliday's Over-Grammaticalisation of Speech Acts 20
2.3 Team 2. Convention-Based Theories: Indirect Speech Acts 23
2.3.1 Searle: Inference and Convention in Speech Acts 23
2.3.2 Morgan's Conventions of Usage and Short-Circuiting Implicatures 26
2.4 Team 3. Inference-Based Theories: Over-Pragmatisation of Speech Acts 27
2.4.1 Standard Pragmatics Approach: Bach and Harnish's Speech Act Schemas 28
2.4.2 Direct Access Approaches I: Leech's Interpersonal Rhetoric 29
2.4.3 Direct Access Approaches II: Conversational Approaches 32
2.5 A Cognitive-Constructional Approach to Directive Speech Acts 35
2.5.1 What Experimental Linguistics Has Revealed about Speech Act Processing 35
2.5.2 Redefining the Literal Force Hypothesis in terms of Sentence Type/Speech Act Compatibility 39

2.5.3 Revisiting the Notions of Direct and Indirect Speech Acts 43
2.5.4 Constraining Inferences via Cognitive Operations: Conceptual Metonymy 48
2.5.5 Illocutionary Idealised Cognitive Models and (Multiple Source)-in-Target Metonymies 50
2.5.6 Assembling the Illocutionary Puzzle: Families of Illocutionary Constructions 60

3 Critical Assessment of the Representation of Speech Acts in Advanced EFL Textbooks 69
3.1 Analytical Categories and Corpus of Textbooks for Analysis 70
3.2 Quantitative Assessment of the Treatment of Directive Speech Acts in Advanced EFL Textbooks 73
3.3 Qualitative Assessment of the Treatment of Directive Speech Acts in Advanced EFL Textbooks 77
3.3.1 Inclusion of Semantic/Pragmatic Information about Speech Acts 77
3.3.2 Treatment of the Constructional Nature of Directive Speech Acts 80
3.3.3 Treatment of Conversational Aspects of Directive Speech Acts 82
3.3.4 Treatment of Cross-Cultural and Cross-Linguistic Areas of Discrepancy between L1 and L2 84
3.4 Conclusions and Way Forward: Explicit Instruction through a Corpus-Based Cognitive Pedagogical Grammar 85

4 A Cognitive Pedagogical Grammar of Directive Speech Acts I: Know-What and Know-How of Directives 88
4.1 Orders 89
4.1.1 The Know-What of Orders 90
4.1.2 The Know-How of Orders 96
4.2 Requests 102
4.2.1 The Know-What of Requests 103
4.2.2 The Know-How of Requests 110
4.3 Beggings 120
4.3.1 The Know-What of Beggings 123
4.3.2 The Know-How of Beggings 130
4.4 Suggestions 136
4.4.1 The Know-What of Suggestions 137
4.4.2 The Know-How of Suggestions 143
4.5 Advice Acts 152
4.5.1 The Know-What of Advice Acts 152
4.5.2 The Know-How of Advice Acts 159
4.6 Warnings 169
4.6.1 The Know-What of Warnings 170
4.6.2 The Know-How of Warnings 177

5 A Cognitive Pedagogical Grammar of Directive Speech Acts II: Activities and Practice Materials 183
5.1 Teaching the Know-What of Directives 186
5.2 Teaching the Know-How of Directives 196
5.3 Teaching Cross-Cultural and Cross-Linguistic Issues of Directives 208

6 Conclusions 218

References 229
Index 246