

Table of Contents

Acknowledgments	7
Introduction	11
1. Situational Aesthetics	20
1.1. Beyond Minimalism: From Object to Perception	20
1.2. Role-playing; Behavior and Memory	25
1.3. Photography between Reflection and Recollection	29
1.4. Serial Art and Systems	33
1.5. The Text Works and the Perceptual Field	36
1.6. Linguistic Art and Ideology	44
2. Toward a Politics of Representation	54
2.1. The Politicization of Art in Britain	56
2.2. Guerrilla Rhetoric: The Antanacastic Works	58
2.2.1. The Discordance of Ideologies	58
2.2.2. Semiotic Theory and Artistic Practice	64
2.2.3. Heroes Don't Smell Very Nice!	69
2.3. The Author as Producer	71
2.3.1. Work Outside and Inside the Gallery	71
2.3.2. The Tradition of Political Photocollage	80
2.3.3. The Author as Producer	82
2.4. Toward a Rhetoric of the Unconscious	85
2.4.1. The Rhetoric of Art Photography and Advertising	85
2.4.2. Framing Sexual Difference	87
2.4.3. Scopophilia and Surveillance	98
3. Tales from Freud	103
3.1. Toward a Psychical Realism	103
3.2. From Socio-history to Psycho-history	106
3.2.1. A Socio-historical "Psychodrama"	107
3.2.2. The Shattered Composite	109
3.2.3. Visual Pleasure and the Photographic Fetish	115
3.3. The Rebus as a Model of "Critical Seeing"	120
3.3.1. The Suspended Peripeteian Moment	122
3.3.2. Voyeurism, Masculinity, and the Uncanny Dance of Ideology	128

3.4.	Between: From Intertext to Masquerades in the Gallery	135
3.4.1.	Hetero-optic Writing	135
3.4.2.	Between Gallery and Cinema	138
3.4.3.	Between the Masks	147
4.	Psychotopologies	150
4.1.	The Discursive Spaces of Postmodernism	150
4.2.	Epistemophilia	153
4.3.	Psychical Space and Postmodernism	159
4.4.	The Paranoiac Space of the City	163
4.5.	Third Space. The Interstitial Location of Culture	166
4.6.	Fiction Films	177
4.7.	The Teletopological Puzzle	184
5.	The Psychomediatic	196
5.1.	The Uncinematic	200
5.2.	The Psychomediatic: Remembering, Repeating, and Working Through	205
5.3.	Photofilmic Psycho-panoramics	211
5.4.	Panorama and Sequence-Image	215
5.5.	Paths through the Virtual Sphere	221
5.6.	Monuments of Melancholia	226
5.7.	The Peripatetic Mode of Spectatorship	237
5.8.	Afterlife	245
	Dear Urania	255
	Plates	285
	Notes	303
	Bibliography	308